Russian Troops Score Two Break-Throughs

By ROBERT MUSEL
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The Russians resumed their all-out offensive along the 500-mile eastern front today as Germans admitted a break-through on the southern end which put the Red army less than 17 miles from the Czechoslovakian border, and another breach on the northern flank where the Baltic port of Riga apparently is being rapidly surrounded.

Berlin broadcasts admitted that Soviet troops driving toward Riga, previously cut off from German forces in lower Latvia, had attacked with 10 infantry divisions and three tank corps on a 12-mile front south of Lake Pskov, and had succeeded in breaking through the main German defence lines.

The admission, coupled with Radio Moscow's announcement that Red Army troops had reached the Latvian town of Madona, 75 miles due east of Riga, meant the breakthrough southwest of Pskov must have been achieved on a wide front or at least several wedges dozens of miles apart.

FRONTS ARE ABLAZE

Meanwhile, the German commentator, Col. Eric Von Hammer also admitted strong Soviet attacks east of Warsaw for the first time in several days and declared that the Carpathian front guarding the en-

Premier Told Hitler Canada Would Fight

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—Germany had full knowledge that in the event of an aggressive war Canada would be in it, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today in the commons as he lifted the veil from a bit of pre-war history.

He said when he went to Germany and talked with Hitler following the coronation in 1937 he went for the purpose of making it clear to the German people that Canada would not be neutral.

At the same time looking into the future in Canadian politics, Mr. King, without naming Premier George Drew of Ontario, issued a challenge to anyone who wished to battle on whether some Canadians were to be treated differently from others.

REPLIES TO CRITICISM

Mr. King was replying to John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) who referred to the government's alleged pre-war attitude of aloofness to international affairs and urged that Canadian citizenship for the future be recognized as such without any labels as to racial origin.

On the first point, Mr. King said he had nothing to take back as to any stand the government took while he was at the head of the administration. There were some people who suggested, he said, that had Hitler known Canada would fight there would have been no war.

Anyone who knew the German war machine and the extent to which Hitler himself was taken in by that machine knew that was not so, knew there was nothing which could stop the plan of world conquest it was concocting.

THANKED BY EDEN

Then he told of the purpose of his visit to Germany and said Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, had thanked him for what he had done.

On Canadian Nationality, Mr. King said he was in full agreement with Mr. Diefenbaker. When Canadian soldiers were fighting regardless of racial origin they should have the privilege of regarding themselves as Canadians, "first, foremost and all the time."

"I regret to see," he said, "that some men in high places are seeking to raise a race cry, forgetting that we are all Canadians."

If any one wanted a battle on the issue he for one would welcome it, said Mr. King. To raise the race cry or to raise a cry of one province against others was to do "the greatest disservice that can be done to Canadian unity and Canadian nationality."

FAVORS CANADIAN FLAG

Mr. King said he was not only in favor of the fullest recognition of Canadian nationality and citizenship but hoped to see a Canadian flag and official recognition of a Canadian national anthem after the war.

Canadian soldiers were proud to go into battle under a Canadian flag and they should be permitted to live under one in peace-time. He said he hoped "God Save the King" would always be sung as the anthem of the British Commonwealth and through the Commonwealth, but he believed Canadians should stand with equal honor to sing "O, Canada" as the national anthem of Canada.

TWO COURSES OPEN

Discussing proposals for an empire council or secretariat Mr. King said there was no division of opinion on the value of maintaining the British Commonwealth. There was room for division of opinion on whether the empire could be made stronger by centralization or whether the methods of decentralization would make it more permanent and enduring.

In choosing between these two courses the record of the past was important. The Commonwealth had grown and prospered and remained united on the methods which had been followed up to now.

"I can't see how anyone would wish to adopt a system which would

War Gratuities Exceed $1,000 In Some Cases

By JACK BRAYLEY

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Under increased clothing allowances for discharged service personnel and a retroactive $750,000,000 war service gratuities bill, given first reading yesterday in the Commons, an army private with service of a year in Canada and two overseas would get $1,077.

Here is the basis of the gratuities:

For every 30 days of service in the western hemisphere which for the purpose of the bill includes the West Indies, Newfoundland and South America, and excludes the Aleutians, $7.50;

For every 30 days' service overseas, which includes the Aleutians, Iceland and Greenland, $15;

Also for each six months of service overseas—including the Aleutians, Iceland and Greenland, seven days' pay and allowances;

ADDITIONAL CREDIT

And a re-establishment credit.

While full details of the bill are not yet available, it was announced that the gratuities would be paid out in monthly installments of unspecified size.

After the gratuities resolution was moved and a non-retroactive clothing allowance of $100 announced, Navy Minister Macdonald gave an example of a private to illus-

Loans For Homes In Alberta Seen

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley said last night in the Commons that he believed that the government's new housing legislation may encourage lending institutions to lend money to prospective home owners in Alberta.

Replying to Mrs. Cora Casselman (L., Edmonton East), Mr. Ilsley said the institutions outside the province stopped lending money in Alberta a few years ago because of the treatment that some outside creditors had received.

However, the new legislation would cover certain institutions in Alberta which could lend money to prospective home owners. There were other provisions also which might encourage outside institutions to lend in the province.

Seven Ridings Still Doubtful In Alberta Vote

Final party standings in the next Alberta Legislature will not be known here for some time, possibly not for a week, according to government election officials. Result of voting in seven constituencies is still in doubt, although Social Credit party candidates are leading in all of them.

Party standings Thursday were as follows: Social Credit, 44, leading 7; Independent, 3; CCF, 2; Veterans', 1, total 57.

SECOND COUNTS

Second counts were necessary in these ridings because first-count figures were indecisive. These may be made by returning officers immediately, but cannot be completed until all ballot boxes are received from outlying polls. In some of the seven constituencies, notably Banff-Cochrane, boxes have to be delivered by horse and buggy, and a few

Premier Churchill Arrives in Italy

ROME, Aug. 11—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain arrived in Italy today.

Allied headquarters announced tonight the Prime Minister's arrival, but did not disclose the purpose of his trip or how long he would stay.

The Prime Minister's first visit to the Italian theatre, following closely on the heels of the recent visit of King George, came just three days after his last trip to the Normandy battlefront. On Tuesday night Allied supreme headquarters in England reported that Mr. Churchill had been to France during the day and had talked with Gen. Montgomery and other Allied war leaders.

City Officer Is Killed in East

TRURO, N.S., Aug. 11.—(CP)—Two lieutenants of the Canadian Army Provost Corps were killed yesterday and a third was injured when the jeep they were riding plunged over a 25-foot embankment at the side of the road at nearby Tatamagouche.

The dead officers were identified as Lieut. Albert Timothy Lenaghan and Lieut. Jack MacDonald McAthey, and the injured man as Lieut. E. O. Snelgrove, all of Western Canada. Their home towns were not available last night.

The accident occurred as the officers were going from Tatamagouche to Debert camp, near here, where they were in training.

Lt. McAthey was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. McAthey of Edmonton and his wife and daughter live at 12405 110 avenue. The 30-year-old officer enlisted in the Canadian Provost Corps at Edmonton in 1940 and was stationed at Edmonton, Calgary and Grande Prairie until posted to eastern Canada in June of this year.

In addition to his wife, daughter and parents, he is survived by three brothers, Lane, Robert and William, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Dickout. Robert McAthey is a lieutenant in the 2nd (R) Battalion, Loyal Edmonton Regiment, here.

An Editorial

At What a Price!

In the House of Commons, G. G. McGeer, K.C., Liberal member for Vancouver-Burrard, supported by Arthur Slaght, K.C., Liberal member for Parry Sound, moved an amendment to the Bank Act in this form:

"The bank (chartered banks) shall not hereafter create or issue bank deposit credit in place of or as a substitute for the lawful currency and credit of Canada unless the amount so created has been authorized by a board consisting of the prime minister, the minister of finance and the governor of the Bank of Canada."

That amendment was defeated by a majority of Liberals and members of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Thus, the Hon. J. L. Ilsley enjoyed his momentary triumph. It was a victory for the continuation of the stranglehold of the pagan private money monopoly. But at what a price!

Mr. Ilsley secured the defeat of Mr. McGeer and Mr. Slaght and those who supported them by being renegade to the very principles upon which he won his election, by being faithless to the people of Canada, by depressing the prestige of his party to an all time low.

So Mr. McGeer and Mr. Slaght are political pariahs in Ottawa. But they are not political pariahs in the eyes of hundreds of thousands of Canadians who cast Liberal votes in 1935 and 1940 because Prime Minister Mackenzie King promised the very thing which Messrs. McGeer and Slaght now demand.

The only possible excuse which can be offered for the Prime Minister, who has permitted this situation to arise, is that, for five years, he has devoted his energies with remarkable success to external affairs.

But it should be noted, nevertheless, that it was Mr. King himself who introduced Family Allowances which, in itself was a direct repudiation of everything his minister of finance has said and done in the past five years.

Mr. King said it was necessary to provide purchasing power for those who need it. But Mr. Ilsley denied old age pensioners purchasing power to keep themselves from privation because it would interfere with his budget which included one billion dollars as a free gift to our fighting allies.

This session of Parliament has shown the people of Canada that entrenched greed in the form of the private money monopoly is the root cause of Canada's denial of social security and social justice.

Mr. McGeer and Mr. Slaght may be ostracised in Ottawa. They are not ostracised in the hearts of the Canadian people nor in the sight of those fine young men who are upholding with their lives the right of the common man to a decent world to live in.

Nazis Launch Robot Tanks At Canucks but All Blow Up

By WILLIAM A. WILSON

WITH CANADIAN FIRST ARMY AT HAUTMESNIL ON THE ROAD TO FALAISE, Aug. 11.—The Germans launched twenty robot tanks today against Canadian tanks and infantry holding exposed positions at the tip of our salient in the enemy defence lines north of Falaise, but all of them were blown up before they caused any damage.

Troops who were exposed to the robot tanks described them as about the size of Sherman tanks.

They exploded with a terrific blast, eye-witnesses said.

"I saw a robot tank come out the woods and along the bottom of a hillside toward my tank," said an officer, who fought through the fierce battle for these positions. "About half way it got into a hollow and stayed there for quite a little time.

"Then it came into sight again, travelling straight at me and I just got it into my sights and was about to fire when it suddenly blew up, about 50 or 60 yards away.

"I couldn't tell whether it was time to blow up or whether someone had hit it just as I was about to fire," the officer added.

(The BBC quoting correspondents at the front, said the robot tanks, described as about the size of a jeep, are "completely unsuccessful" as a weapon, and gave Canadian guns "excellent target practice.")

King in Favor Of National Flag, Anthem

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today in the Commons that he was in favor of a Canadian flag and of recognition of "O, Canada" as the national anthem for Canada, in addition to "God Save the King" as the anthem for the Empire.

Replying to a suggestion from John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) that Canadian nationality be more fully recognized and less attention paid to racial origin, Mr. King said he agreed.

He added he hoped to see a Canadian flag established after the war, as Canadian soldiers used a Canadian flag abroad and were proud to go into battle under it.

He also said he favored recognition of "O, Canada" as the distinctive National Anthem of Canada while retaining "God Save the King" as the anthem of the British Commonwealth.

Montgomery Declares Bulk Of Nazis Face Annihilation

By VIRGIL PINKLEY

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Allied armored forces stormed eastward along an 80-mile front within 46 miles of Paris today, and Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery declared in a stirring order to his Allied troops that the bulk of the German armies in Northwestern Europe face encirclement and annihilation.

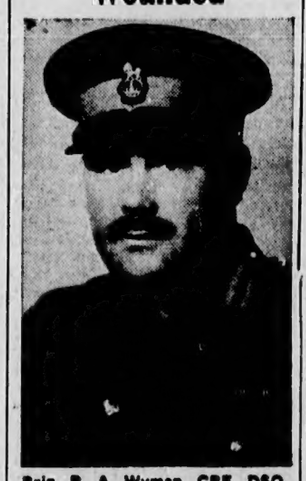

Montgomery, commander of all Allied ground forces in France, called upon his combined armies for a mighty, concerted effort to close the trap around Nazi Field Marshal Gunther Von Kluge's battered troops, and destroy them. "The great bulk of the German forces in northwest Europe are in a bad way," he said. "We are round behind them in many places and it is possible that some of them will not get away."

In an order addressed to all the officers and men, Montgomery praised the Allied armies in northern France as a "great" fighting team and declared that the "momentous days" of the war are at hand.

As he spoke, American tanks and infantrymen drove almost 70 miles beyond the enemy's shattered

"Mr. Duplessis has the responsibility of administering the province in a most difficult period," Mr. Godbout told a press conference in his office at the legislature about an hour after he had discussed with the Union Nationale leader the results of Tuesday's close general election: "I am most sincere when I wish him good luck."

General Keller Suffers Wounds From Shrapnel

By WILLIAM STEWART

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 8.—(Delayed)—(CP) — Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller, of Kelowna, B.C., commander of the 3rd Canadian Division, was wounded by shrapnel shortly after noon today when a formation of United States heavy bombers dropped a group of fragmentation bombs short of their mark and into the Canadian area.

Keller, who led his division in its assault landing on the beaches of Normandy and through the British Canadian capture of Caen, was hit in the left arm and left leg, and also suffered a minor chest wound.

A load of bombs dropped a short distance south of Caen caused a number of casualties among personnel. Troops were moving into the area at the time, and no one had time to take cover before the bombs began to explode.

TAKEN TO ENGLAND

The bombing came while large formations of American Flying Fortresses and Liberators were flying high over the Canadian advance and attacking enemy positions to the south.

Keller was given first aid and later evacuated to England.

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston in a statement last night confirmed "with regret" that Maj.-Gen. R. F. L. Keller, commander of the 3rd Canadian division on the Caen front, had been wounded in action in Normandy.

Earlier, Mrs. Keller said in Vancouver she had received word that Gen. Keller had been wounded in action but that his injuries were not serious. Gen. Keller led the 3rd division into Normandy when the United Nations assaulted France on D-Day.

trance to Czechoslovakia and to Krakow again was ablaze.

Two other Red armies—the 1st and 2nd White Russian—advanced up to 10 miles in co-ordinated assaults designed to crumple the German defences between Warsaw and east Prussia and ultimately outflank the embattled Polish capital from the north.

ABANDON CAUTION

The Germans were putting up their bitterest defence of the summer offensive and front dispatches said the Nazi command had thrown caution to the winds in hurling tank reserves against Russian mobile guns and anti-tank artillery along a 360-mile front from Riga to Warsaw.

Whole German divisions were being sacrificed in a frantic race with time to permit the Todt organization to complete the fortification of east Prussia and to enable the Wehrmacht to reorganize its battered forces for the defence of both east Prussia and Warsaw.

In the last 24 hours alone, the Russians knocked out 199 German tanks along the Riga-Warsaw line to bring the toll of enemy armor in the past three days to 478. In addition, 148 German planes have been shot down in the 72-hour period.

ADVANCE 28 MILES

Marshal Ivan S. Konev sent his armored spearheads rolling 28 miles beyond the vistula in southern Poland with the capture of Lagow, 19 miles from Kielce, and Rakowow, 10 miles to the south.

The fall of Kielce, 95 miles south of Warsaw, would cut the Polish capital's main railway link with Krakow, the Germans' main stronghold in southern Poland, and also imperil Radom, about midway between Kielce and Warsaw.

DOOM STRONGHOLD

Konev's latest advances doomed Sandomierz, by-passed German stronghold at the confluence of the Vistula and San rivers. His forces were reported officially to be fighting on the approaches to Sandomierz after outflanking it from both the south and west.

The Germans sought to break the Soviet stranglehold around Sandomierz with six counter-attacks, but Russian anti-tank guns knocked out 18 enemy tanks and remainder retreated. Another 15 Germans were killed.

CHUNGKING, Aug. 11—Japanese invaders of India were slowly being pushed back into Burma today, an Allied communique reported, while in China a military spokesman announced that the enemy lost 25,000 men, killed or wounded, before capturing Hengyang.

Progress of British troops moving southward along Tiddim road in India was described as "steady but unspectacular" against isolated pockets of resistance. Front line observers believed the India-Burma border, 10 miles away, would be passed during the next week. Beyond the frontier, "mystery" forces were reported successfully harassing Japanese supply lines.

CANUCKS AT PITICNY

Canadian First Army forward elements were ranged before the village of Piticny, which appears to be the hub of a numoer of strong points hastily built by the enemy to bar the way to Falaise, British United Press correspondent Ronald Clark reported from the front. Clark said it may take several days of hard fighting to smash these positions "which have more or less stopped us for the present."

Clark said the RAF Typhoons pumped no less than 108 rockets into a building housing an important German headquarters, completely demolishing the structure.

Meanwhile American armored forces were reported probing the outer defences of Paris at Chateaudun and Chartres, the latter only 46 miles from the French capital, while another column pounded toward Orleans in an outflanking drive that threatened to cut France in two.

ATTACK CHATEAUDUN

Chateaudun, 54 miles east of Le Mans and 70 miles southwest of Paris, is under attack, an Allied radio transmitter in France said.

No confirmation was available at supreme headquarters of the reports, but at least one column was known to have swung due east in a frontal smash toward Orleans, on the Loire River 63 miles south of Paris. Capture of Orleans would cut the Toufouse-Paris trunk railway, one of the main lines linking the capital with southern France.

Far to the rear, other American forces captured the Loire valley industrial centre of Angers, 50 miles southwest of Le Mans, and Nantes, 97 miles southwest of Le Mans, tightened their encirclement of the German U-boat base of Lorient on the south coast of Brittany and pressed a two-pronged assault on heavily-defended Brest at the western tip of the peninsula.

Heavy fighting was raging in the Vire-Mortain sector east of Avranches, where the Germans counter-attacked with unabated ferocity in a futile effort to break through to the sea and split the Normandy and Brittany fronts.

THREATEN NAZI BULGE

The Germans still held firmly to Mortain, 19 miles east of Avranches, but American troops pushed two and a half miles into their flank in an advance down the highway from Vire.

The whole German bulge between Le Mans and Caen was endangered, however, as an American column began moving north from Le Mans toward a junction with British and Canadian forces now above Falaise, 65 miles away that would complete a massive encirclement in the Russian manner.

London newspapers bannered unconfirmed reports that the Americans were "50 miles from Paris" "at the gates of Chartres" and "just outside the defence zone of the French capital." The London Daily Mail said one unconfirmed report claimed that Chartres already had been captured.

Nearly 50 places in England bear the name "Sutton" either alone or in combination with others.

prejudice the system which has worked so successfully up to the present," he said.

GREAT CO-OPERATION

There was no finer example of co-operation to be found anywhere than in the co-operation of the nations of the Commonwealth during the war.

It had come about not by "a central agency directing affairs, but by methods which had grown up over the years for the freest and fullest exchange of views constantly between the governments."

Mr. King quoted to house statements made by John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative leader. They showed that Mr. King was not alone in his views on centralization as Mr. Bracken had expressed opposition. His only quarrel with the Bracken statement, published in Maclean's magazine, was with a suggestion that steps had been taken to break up the Commonwealth.

STRENGTHEN EMPIRE

"All the steps that this administration has taken," said Mr. King, "have been steps to strengthen the Commonwealth."

The British Commonwealth was the greatest agency for peace and goodwill the world had ever known. He hoped it would be permanent and enduring.

"I can't make too strong the feelings that I have in that regard," he said. "They are feelings that I have had all my life."

If anyone wanted to look at his previous expressions of veiw he was prepared to provide quotations, but he said he had never found it necessary to be continually proclaiming his loyalty.

NOT ALONE IN VIEWS

Mr. King said he quoted Mr. Bracken's statements because there was a tendency to suggest that he (Mr. King) was alone in his opposition to centralization of the Empire, that he was taking an isolationist attitude.

Mr. Bracken's views also included a statement the Progressive Conservative leader did not believe Canada should make prior commitments to go to war without knowing the circumstances in which a war might develop.

This, said Mr. King, was not the view the Conservative party took before the present war. They had urged the government to say that it would enter war as soon as Britain did, and ridiculed the government's policy that parliament should decide.

"I claim that my attitude is responsible for the fact that this parliament unanimously agreed to enter the war," said Mr. King.

Earlier, Mr. King said Canada is prepared to play her full part in any world security organization, which may be established to keep the peace in the post-war world.

STUDY WORLD SECURITY

The organization for world security was receiving the closest attention and Canada was being kept informed of what steps were being taken, Mr. King told Mr. Diefenbaker during consideration of external affairs estimates.

A four-power conference in Washington would attempt to bring into being the best security organization that could be devised. Canada would play her full part in that organization whether it was an international police force or something else—so that "a preponderance of power could be kept on the side of peace."

Mr. King said if Canada had demanded representation at the conference the other empire countries and other allied nations could have made similar requests.

It was deemed advisable not to make such a request and to leave the drawing up of the security organization to the United Kingdom, the United States, Russia and China.

Mr. King said Mr. Diefenbaker had asked that the government reveal what part Canadian forces would play in the war against Japan. The Prime Minister said that was a matter he could not disclose now.

Indians Request Social Services

By B T. RICHARDSON

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—The Indian Association of Alberta has sent a petition to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, mines and resources minister T. A. Crerar, and a number of members of parliament and other officials, asking for extension of social services to the Indian population of Canada, the improvement of Indian education and the employment of Indians in the government's Indian Affairs Branch.

The petition urges the re-admission of James Ward and Fred Hodgson to Indian bands in Alberta. These two had recently been excluded from the reserves on the grounds of white blood. The petition protests against clearing reserves of persons of mingled white and Indian descent. It also asks recognition of the Indian Association by the government as representative of 17 Alberta Indian bands which formed the association last May.

8th Army Poles, Italians Advance

By ELEANOR PACKARD

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

Rome, Aug. 11.—Eighth Army Polish and Italian troops lunged forward two miles on a six miles front in the Adriatic sector today to capture hills dominating the Cesano Valley and occupy Scapezzano, Monterado and Corinaldo, key rail and highway towns.

The balance of the Italian front was comparatively quiet, with the exception of bitter fighting in the enemy pocket south of the Arno river and east of Florence. But front dispatches reported heavy explosions accompanied by great flashes in the German-held northern section of the ancient rennaissance city last night.

The explosions were followed by a heavy rumble as if from falling masonry, indicating the Germans were demolishing buildings in the hope of blocking roads with debris against a British Eighth Army drive across the Arno.

(The German DNB news agency reported today that "in order to remove every pretext from the British for the systematic destruction of an open town," the German high command had decided to withdraw Nazi covering forces on the northern bank of the Arno to the northern outskirts of Florence.)

Nazis Prepare Huge Rockets For Early Use

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

LONDON, Aug. 11—The Daily Mail today quoted a captured Austrian research worker that the Germans were preparing to loose rockets containing 10 to 20 tons of explosives each against Britain "within a matter of weeks."

The research worker said he was assigned to work on the huge missiles, 10 to 20 times heavier than the present jet-propelled robot bombs, but deserted because he was disgusted with working conditions and long hours.

He told the Daily Mail the Germans were trying their utmost to complete preparations and begin with the barrage before the Allies could capture the launching platforms in France and Belgium.

He added, however, that he believed the new bombs had enough range to be fired from southern France or even the western edge of Germany. Some 250,000 to 500,000 persons were engaged in the preparation or manufacture of the new bombs, he said.

Infantry and support battalions of the 2nd Division have all been named in previous dispatches, but this is the first official disclosure that the entire division is here with its artillery and auxiliary services.

didates, one CCF and one Independent.

"We have quite a strong opposition," he said. "It is perhaps the strongest opposition in the assembly's history."

Mr. Godbout said he did not know whether Andre Laurendeau, 32-year-old Bloc Populaire chief would be recognized in the assembly debates as a party leader.

"Our parliamentary tradition recognizes only one opposition leader," he said.

QUEBEC, Aug. 11. — (CP) — Maurice Duplessis, whose Union Nationale party won 46 of the constituencies in Quebec's 91-seat legislative assembly in general elections Tuesday, based his pre-election campaign on his contention that the Liberal government of Premier Adelard Godbout had ceded provincial rights to the Dominion Government.

In one of his campaign addresses, Mr. Duplessis said the province had been living for the last five years in "abject slavery because th essential rights of the province have been abandoned to Ottawa." He said essential rights of the workers and farmers had been trampled on "by the present regime."

TO REGAIN RIGHTS

Mr. Duplessis said that his Union Nationale party was the "only party which can give you back the precious rights abandoned to Ottawa by the present regime of traitors and renegades."

The Union Nationale is the outgrowth of the former provincial Conservative party which was generally disbanded in 1935 and decked out in new colors with a touch of the Liberal element added. However, these insurgent Liberals, led by Paul Gouin, soon disagreed with the Conservative element and broke away.

Mr. Duplessis, who had been named Conservative leader in Oct., 1933, led the new party to the polls in Aug., 1936 for the first time. It swept to power taking 76 of 90 seats while the Liberals placed 14 members in the opposition. After three years in office, during which the number of constituencies were cut to 86, Duplessis sought a new mandate, but his followers were returned in only 14 of the ridings.

Five New Polio Cases in Alberta

Five new infantile paralysis cases have been reported in southern Alberta, according to Dr. A. Somerville, provincial director of communicable diseases.

Three of the new cases are in Medicine Hat, where 10 have developed in the last two weeks. The other two are at Macleod and Travers.

The outbreak at Medicine Hat has definitely reached epidemic proportions, Dr. Somerville said. Steps have been taken to quarantine families affected, but as far as is known, no extra precautions have been taken, such as barring children from public gatherings.

Twenty-six cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Alberta since Jan. 1. None have occurred north of Red Deer.

Chinese Forces Sharply Attack Japanese Lines

CHUNGKING, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Chinese forces sharply attacked Japanese battle lines around Hengyang yesterday in an apparent attempt to retake the city before the enemy has a chance to dig in and clinch his hold on the newly-captured prize.

In the western Yunnan province campaign to clear the Burma Road, American anti-aircraft guns, manned by the first American ground forces to fight in China and depressed for use as field artillery, blasted away at the last Japanese positions on Sungshan mountain.

Capture of the Sungshan mountain stronghold would knock all the Japanese from the Burma road from the Salween river to Lungling, 25 miles southwest.

Gets Third Reading

New Housing Legislation Is Approved by Commons

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—(CP)—The Commons last night gave third reading without division to the bill providing that $275,000,000 be loaned to prospective home owners, to owners who wish to repair their homes, to the builders of low rental homes and to those aiding in the clearance of slums.

Speaking shortly before the bill was passed, Finance Minister Ilsley said some members had stated that the amount provided for loans was insufficient to meet the needs for housing in Canada.

The members had quoted from the report of the advisory committee on reconstruction which had estimated 600,000 urban and 125,000 rural homes would have to be built in the first 10 years after the war.

SEES CRITICISM

If the government asked for an appropriation of between $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 to finance the building of the 725,000 homes over a 10 year period the same members would have criticized the legislation.

They would have criticized the government for binding the hands of parliament over such a long period.

The amount appropriated under the present bill would fill requirements for the next two or three years.

Although the government was providing only $275,000,000 for loans, the volume of building, of land cleared and of homes repaired would be valued at $740,000,000. The difference between the amount provided by the government and the total value would be made up by insurance companies and others which entered into housing contracts with the government.

Mr. Ilsley said he believed that Canada was making more adequate or at least as adequate provision as any other country to take care of housing problems.

After the housing bill had been passed, the Commons put through committee stage the bill providing for establishment of an industrial development bank to assist in post-war industrial financing and then began consideration of transport department estimates.

COMMUNITY PLANNING

"The bill is shot through and through with the idea of community planning," Mr. Ilsley said in reply to opposition members when study of the housing legislation was resumed after the war service gratuities bill was given first reading and the resolution to it adopted.

Town and community planning was a matter that had to be dealt with by the provinces and the municipalities, but in the housing bill the government had attempted to encourage such planning.

In the new bill it was decided to limit the term of loans to 20 years in municipalites where there was no planning. The term was fixed at 30 years, where there was planning.

In reply to those who stated that $20,000,000 would not go far toward slum clearance, Mr. Ilsley said the amount represented only a share of what would be spent on removal of the slums. The provinces and the municipalities would contribute a share and it was possible that as a result $80,000,000 might be spet on slum clearance.

NOT ACCEPTABLE

The CCF suggestion that the bill allow municipalities to go into the housing busines was not acceptable by the government.

"On the issue of municipal housing versus the kind of housing that we envisage uder this act, that matter can never be settled," he said. "The CCF believes in the state operation of things; they believe in state housing. They think that is a good way to do things, and in some places, under certain conditions, it may work very well. But our experience in Canada has been very sad in that regard."

Seven Ridings Still Doubtful In Alberta Vote

have not yet reached Airdrie, returning officer's headquatrers for the riding.

Before official counts can be started in the "doubtful" ridings, candidates or their agents must be notified of the date, as they attend the count. In other cases where the result was definite on first count, candidates and returning officers generally agree that no official count is necessary, as the result could not be changed.

SOLDIER VOTES

All soldier votes have been forwarded to returning officers for inclusion in official count results, it was announced Friday by James Thomson, special returning officer for the servicemen's vote. The ballots were sent Thursday from Edmonton by registered mail.

Out of the seven constituencies still undecided, it is unlikely that soldier vote figures will change the result. Highest total given to any candidate in all the ridings is 39, Social Credit votes for M. Ponich, Vegreville constituency.

COMPLETE COUNT

The complete soldier vote figures for the seven ridings are below:

St. Albert: Charles Holder (SC) 12; J. A. Nadeau (Ind.) 4; V. E. Toane (CCF) 10.

St. Paul: J. W. Beaudry, K.C. (SC) 14; J. A. Beauregard (CCF) 13; D. Gamache (Lab.-Prog) 6.

Willingdon: W. Tomyn (SC) 23; L. L. Kostash (CCF) 9; W. Yusep (Lab.-Prog) 9.

Vegreville: M. Ponich (SC) 39; W. Porayko (CCF) 20; P. Timchuk (Lab.-Prog.) 3.

Okotoks-High River: Ivan Casey (SC) 37; J. T. Broomfield (Ind.) 21; J. A. Jeffery (CCF) 23.

Cypress: C. H. Moore (Ind) 0; T. A. Reynor (CCF) 5; Mrs. E. V. Thurston (SC) 8.

Banff - Cochrane: Frank Laut (Ind.) 25; D. MacGregor (CCF) 22; Arthur Wray (SC) 26.

A second count of ballots in the southern constituency of Pincher Creek-Crow's Nest today confirmed the victory of E. O. Duke, Social Credit, a candidate for re-election in the Alberta provincial general election on Tuesday.

TIGHT RACE

The Pincher Creek-Crow's Nest contest was one of the tighest in the election, in which the Social Credit government, seeking re-election, has won 44 of the 57 legislature seats and is leading in seven constituencies where final results still have to be obtained.

The second count gave Mr. Duke a clear majority of 354 votes over Enoch Williams, the Labor-Unity candidate, with only small polls remaining to be heard from today.

FIRST COUNT

The first count of ballots gave Mr. Duke 2,109 and Mr. Williams 1,788, while Rev. W. H. Irwin, CCF, had 962. Mr. Duke therefore lacked a complete majority and a second count was necessary. In the distribution of Mr. Irwin's second choices Mr. Duke received the greater number and won the election.

Each of the three candidates received 15 votes from service men and women stationed in the province and who voted for candidates in their home constituencies.

Maj. Donald Forbes "Timmy" Cameron has been in France since the middle of July. A veteran of the fighting in Italy, the 23-year-old officer is the son of D. E. Cameron, librarian at the University of Alberta, and Mrs. Cameron, 10511 Saskatchewan Drive. A medical student at the time of his enlistment in March, 1941, he proceeded overseas three months later with the rank of second lieutenant with the 14th Army Tank Regiment. He was promoted to captain and major in 1943 and at the age of 22 became brigade-major, one of the youngest men to ever hold the position. Major Cameron took part in the Dieppe raid and the landings on Sicily and Italy. He returned to England in March of this year for a staff course at Camberley, Surrey. Before going to France he married the former Miss Patricia Harrison, of Swanborough, a member of the WRCNS.

OTHER ALBERTANS

Regimental Sergeant-Major Arthur Hiram Stewart, Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, was born at Carleton Place, Ont., Aug. 14, 1897. He was employed as an accountant at Bowden, prior to his enlistment in the Canadian (Active) Army Jan. 8, 1940, as a private. He was promoted through the non-commissioned ranks to his present rank of Warrant Officer Class 1 as he did in the First Great War when he served for five years and two months being discharged as a sergeant-major. His wife, Mrs. Kathleen Stewart, two sons, George Ryan, 14 years old, James McCormack, 12, and daughter Mary Elizabeth 10, live at 913 5th avenue W., Calgary.

Canucks Slug It Out

WITH THE CANADIANS ON THE FALAISE ROAD, Aug. 11.—(CP)—In a day-long battle that Lt. Frank Hooton of Winnipeg yesterday said was "hell let loose" tanks of a Western Canada regiment slugged it out mercilessly with hidden enemy guns and tanks Wednesday.

Both sides suffered losses in the clash, one of the bitterest duels in which Canadian tanks have ever been engaged, atop point 195, a few thousand yards northwest of Potigny.

Fighting began just after daybreak Wednesday and lasted throughout the day until almost dusk.

One tank commanded by Cpl. Peter Strout, whose home is in British Columbia, had two 88-millimetre shells through the steel box back of the turret which missed him by scarcely a foot.

In charge of another tank which suffered hits, although the crew was unhurt, was Lt. "Scud" Scudamore of Vancouver.

Polish Premier Leaves Moscow

MOSCOW, Aug. 11—(AP)—Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk sped back toward London last night shouldered with the responsibility of trying to weld two rival Polish regimes into one strong, independent government.

Foreign observers, eager for a solution to the Polish question now that liberation seems near, noted these two developments bearing upon differences between the government in London and the Soviet-backed national committee of liberation:

1. Marshal Stalin, despite his preoccupation with the Red Army offensives, took time off Wednesday night for a second visit with the Polish president.

2. Mikolajczyk was given a hospitable reception in Moscow and a friendly farewell, indicating that he is acceptable to the Soviets.

The Polish premier is reported to have told friends that his conversation with Stalin had convinced him the Soviets were not seeking a communistic Poland but a friendly neighbor.

Storm Wipes Out Bumper Wheat Crop

GLENDIVE, Mont., Aug. 11.—(AP)—A bumper crop of wheat in a strip estimated at 20 miles wide and at least 100 miles long was wiped out yesterday by a hailstorm and high winds, a storm which injured livestock, killed poultry and blasted farm buildings apart. Preliminary estimates by farmers in the area, which stretches from Broadus in extreme southeastern Montana, to Sidney near the North Dakota line, placed damage at 2,500,000 bushels.

War Gratuities Exceed $1,000 In Some Cases

trate how the gratuities—which go to all forces and can be claimed up to 10 years after discharge—would be distributed.

For one years' service in Canada, the private would get $90 and for two years' service overseas an additional $360. He also would come in for seven days' pay and allowances for every six months' of service which would give him an additional $77. He would get a rehabilitation credit equal to his service gratuity or about $450 and finally the $100 clothing allowance. The former clothing allowance rate was $65 compared to $35 of the First Great War.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King, in introducing the bill, pointed out that the servicemen also would come in for benefits under the Veterans' Land Act, educational and vocational grants and various other aids to re-establishment. Casualties would be given various additional compensations, like pensions.

LAST WAR PAYMENTS

In the last war Canadian gratuities ranged from one months' pay and allowances for one year home service to six months' pay and allowances for any part of three years or more service overseas.

Pensions Minister Mackenzie indicated the various forms in which the re-establishment credit could be used:

Acquisition of a home under the new housing legislation;

Repair or modernization of a home owned by the serviceman;

Purchase of furniture and household equipment for domestic use;

Provision of working capital for a profession or business;

Purchase of tools or equipment for trade, profession or business;

Purchase of a business;

Payment of premiums under any Dominion government insurance scheme;

Purchase of special equipment for educational or vocational training;

For any other purpose authorized by the government.

Mr. King broke down the $750,000,000 total—based on the assumption the present strength of armed forces would be maintained until March 31, 1945—to an estimated $400,000,000 for gratuities and $350,000,000 for other benefits.

OTHERS MAY BENEFIT

The matter of a similar gratuity for members of the merchant marine, air ferry services and auxiliary services was raised in a debate which resulted in general agreement in the principle of the legislation.

The prime minister said the government was only too ready to consider recognition of these services.

New Allied Airborne Army May Strike Decisive Blows

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 11.—(AP)—The Allies last night uncovered a "secret weapon which may strike some of the most decisive blows of the war against Germany — a new British-American airborne force with the size and power of an army, created under the command of Lt.-Gen. Lewis H. Brereton.

The new unit, welding British, American and Canadian airborne forces — including the Canadian parachute battalion which first saw action in Normandy — with ground combat personnel, was officially announced as "approximating an army in size and importance." An army may have from six to nine divisions with upwards of 10,000 men in each.

Creation of the new army, embodying an unprecedented combination of striking power and mobility, conjures up a picture of great sky force plummeting down deep behind the German lines, possibly within Germany itself, to land decisive blows.

The components of the army are the same ones which, as respective parts of the ground and air forces, contributed so greatly to the success of the invasion. Their integration under one command promises increased effectiveness.

"The objective of the new organization," said headquarters, "is to integrate and make more effective the large airborne forces at the disposal of the supreme commander. In this command will be combined both the combat troops and the planes and gliders transporting them."

Overseas Troops To Receive Jobs Before Draftees

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—All possible steps will be taken to see that draftees in the army do not obtain jobs at the expense of overseas soldiers by reason of earlier demobilization, Defence Minister Ralston said yesterday in the Commons. He was answering questions from John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) about demobilization plans and assured the House there would be a plan, but he was not prepared to announce it as yet.

"Many S.S. men were killed," said the Moscow account, recorded here by Reuters news agency.

The Vital Fact

John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, puts his finger on the vital fact in the Alberta election. He says;

"The victory of the Social Credit party in Alberta emphasizes two things which ought not to be lost sight of by the Canadian people. The non-acceptance of socialistic theories on the one hand and the demands of the people for reform on the other. It emphasizes that our people want to be unfettered from the limitations and abuses of the past, but they want this without changes of a revolutionary character."

What Mr. Bracken says is overwhelmingly right. Canadians are vitally interested in monetary reform in a manner that will make social security and social justice feasible. They are not interested in revolutionary theories that have never been known to work.

The political party that can convince the people of the sincerity of such a program, that is, evolutionary monetary reform with social justice, will win the next election.

Mr. Bracken urges the Canadian people not to lose sight of this fact. It would be more to the purpose if he took care not to lose sight of it himself.

Allied Arts Council

The Allied Arts Council of Edmonton has concluded one year of operations and has returned to office many of its original officers.

Under the competent and enlightened chairmanship of Dr. George Hunter, who continues in that post, the Council, in its single year of activities, has made a tangible and substantial contribution to the war effort. It has worked harmoniously and efficiently with other organizations and has been of notable assistance to them.

The Allied Arts Council was formed a year ago to mobilize art for war. Writers, painters, broadcasters, actors, musicians and others were bought together to turn their gifts to a community and national purpose.

The plan has succeeded admirably. And while there is no space here to recite the long list of projects undertaken by the Council, it is apparent to all who are acquainted with the facts that each has been most useful.

The Council was formed for purposes of war. There is no reason why it should not be continued for purposes of peace.

There is a definite need in this community for an organization that will continue to mobilize artistic media for the cultural betterment of the city and district.

It would be a very great pity if the Allied Arts Council should feel its work was done when the war is over.

They Are Tired

Here is an opinion on the Quebec election offered by L'Action Catholique;

"One reason for the Liberal setback in this province is that the people of the province of Quebec are tired of war, of the coercion imposed upon draftees; of the billions given England; of restrictions, of rationing, etc."

This is one of the amazing statements of a year which has been unusually productive of amazing statements.

One might ask followers of the Union Nationale and the Bloc Populaire how they happen to be "tired of war" when they have not yet started to work at it.

One might ask them how they have become weary of the coercion of draftees when there is no such coercion.

One might enquire why they object to the billion dollar gifts when those gifts were offered to stabilize, not English, but Canadian industry.

One might wonder at their boredom with restrictions and rationing when Quebec's restrictions and rations are the least bothersome in the Dominion.

But why ask anything? The nationalists are "tired".

Dangerous Philosophy

More than 2,000 members of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect, drawn from Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and eastern United States, have been meeting in Winnipeg and have had something to say about the attitude of the organization towards military service.

They make the somewhat tiresome claim that the attitude of the sect has been misrepresented and that, as an order, it never opposed the war effort, leaving conscientious objecting to individual inclinations.

If this specious argument was the source of the lifting of the ban on Jehovah's Witnesses, that ban should be reimposed without delay. One might have expected a measure of contrition. One might have looked for a modification in teaching. One might have felt that these people would at least promise to be careful.

But there is nothing of the sort. Their cry is that the ban was unjust, that their views were misinterpreted and that, as a body, they did not obstruct the war effort.

Such insolent casuistry puts them right back where they were—the object of grave suspicion.

For it is abundantly clear that if the sect did not formally oppose the war effort and left military service to the conscience of its members, it certainly shaped the consciences of its members in a manner so that they would shirk their duty.

In other words, the Jehovah's Witnesses are a dangerous organization, not because of any official acts as an organization, but because they inculcate into the minds of the young a philosophy which refuses to recognize the responsibilities of citizenship.

The inculcation of such philosophy is just as reprehensible in times of peace as in times of war. For the responsibility of citizenship is the jugular vein of democracy. Anyone who frays it or constricts it is at war with society.

War Without Men

The Germans continue to drag out another and still another from their boasted arsenal of secret weapons. Some, like the robot bombs, are dreadfully effective from the standpoint of wanton destruction. Others are merely futile.

But all these secret weapons produced by the Germans have one point in common; each is designed to inflict destruction without the use of fighting manpower. And that is tremendously significant.

For the use of mechanized weapons to conserve manpower is paradoxical. It does not follow the course of experience.

It was thought by some that when the age of mechanized warfare arrived, war could be waged by a few technicians directing the course of frightful machines. But the contrary has been the case. The more war has been mechanized, the greater has been the number of men involved.

In the entire Hundred Years' War or in the Wars of the Roses which extended over generations, it is doubtful if one-twentieth of the number of men were used as have been employed during the campaigns of 1944.

As in industry, effective mechanization does not decrease the number of men required, but materially increases that number. In this war, for instance, eighteen factory workers must stand behind every man in the field.

So the Germans' attempt to wage war without men is doomed to failure from the start.

This wanton unleashing of robot devices merely hastens the German defeat.

Difficulty in Judging Nazis

Principles of Law Must Be Observed in All Cases

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

In preceding articles I have tried to discuss the peace proposals as they are emerging. But before proceeding further, it is necessary to ask whether any principles underlie them. I am aware that it has become, apparently, the mark of a feeble, "unrealistic," mind to relate any proposals to principle. In this view of the relativity of all things including morality and justice we are not so far from the Nazis as we pretend to be. George Bernard Shaw had the courage to say so the other day. Yet civilization is exactly the establishment of standards. What some people call "realism" is just barbarism.

Thompson
Dorothy

In internal affairs we recognize no such "realism," for if we did there would be neither law nor order. Order under law presumes the recognition of principles of conduct as having universal validity. There is not one law for the "good" and one for the "bad," but a law for all in the light of which goodness and badness are judged. Such law is supreme over the state itself. It presumes exquisite impartiality. Prosecutor and judge may not be one; even the lowest criminal has his "day in court"; no man can be tried for general badness but only for specific offences, nor retroactively for a crime which was not one when committed; and if found guilty the punishment must be the one prescribed, and neither "cruel nor unusual."

Such law is the basis of civilization and the protector of the most precious freedoms.

There is no binding law of nations with instruments for its judgment and enforcement. But in other, and in some ways more enlightened times there was an unwritten law of nations governing the behavior of states amongst each other. In essence that code was that in peace each state should do all it could to help other states, and in war as little as possible to injure them. It presumed that war was an incident disturbing normal beneficent relations between nations, and that nothing should be done irreparably to disturb them.

Respect for that concept has been present at every peace conference for over a hundred years. Though Napoleon's France devastated Europe, the victors even left France armed, yet never again was she aggressive. The concept was violated in 1871, by a victorious Prussia only in wrenching from France Alsace and Lorraine, against the advice of Bismarck who himself recognized the validity of the unwritten law.

The concept was present in a shadowy way in Versailles, incorporated in the tragic person of Woodrow Wilson. The spirit of this unwritten law has been assassinated by the Nazis, but we are not seeking a Nazi peace.

It may be said that the operation of this law did not restrain aggressors. There has never been any force in law to restrain aggression. But of this unwritten law, it may nevertheless be said that it gave us peace in peace and not continuous war with brief armistices.

And if there is ever to be a just and enforceable law over nations it must obviously conform to principles practiced within civilized nations for centuries.

It must, then, be created by consent and be of impartial application. Neither for states nor for individuals can there be separate laws for "good" and "bad"—prejudged before the laws exist!

Nor will a nation or a person accept to be branded for a crime that has hitherto been regarded as the sovereign right of all states.

For it is the sovereign right of nations to make war. The fact that the human conscience considers aggressive war criminal does not make it so in any statute. There is only one state whose constitution specifically forbids aggression—Switzerland. The concept of the unlimited sovereignty of the state, which not an Allied government is as yet prepared to relinquish, includes the sovereign right to make war unrestrained by any considerations save those of national interest.

If it is therefore really the invention of the victors to establish an international organization to lay down future rules under which all nations must live, it is obvious that they must start with universal principles that may eventually become incorporated into international law. But they cannot justly make them retroactive and from the first they must be impartially applied. Otherwise, the organization will be only a league of conquerors.

Peace is the substitution of law for force, law is the codification of principles and a principle is a rule in the light of which not a single case, but all similar cases can be judged. All else is casuistry. If that is "unrealistic," so is civilization. Victory does not equate to mastery, except for Nazism.

It is in the light of principles that might become binding laws of international behavior that I would judge the peace proposals. For there are no other standards by which they can be judged, unless we are to accept the Nazi creed ourselves.

Regards Britain as Bankrupt

Continued Lend-Lease Has Been Proposed as Only Solution

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON.—The grim story of Britain's economic plight that a few people have been discussing off the record has now suddenly popped out into the open.

As the British have been telling it privately these past few months, it's a simple story. Britain is broke. That is the gist of it.

Actually, it's a very complicated story and the danger in over-simplifying it is that you falsify it. But anyway I should like to try to make it clear, because I think a great deal may turn on how well it's understood.

You begin with pre-war Britain, the tight little isle, importing far more than it exported in order to maintain a relatively high standard of living. Exports only matched about 50 to 60 per cent. of the goods that came in.

That kind of out-of-balance trade was possible for several reasons. Part of it was made up by revenue from British shipping around the world. A much larger part of it was made up by the earnings on British capital invested in a great many countries—the United States, the Argentine, India, Malaya. Britain was like a rich middle-aged man who got half his living by clipping coupons.

Now, the stocks and the bonds that half the income came from are gone, or they're pledged to various governments. They have gone to finance the costliest war in history.

About one-third of all British holdings in this country were disposed of outright. A considerable part of the balance is pledged to the RFC for a loan used to buy arms before lend-lease.

Holdings in railroads and utilities in the Argentine have been taken up by the Argentine government in order to get pounds, to pay for the meat and other commodities Britain has bought there. British bond holders have been given a piece of paper from the Argentine government in lieu of a piece of paper from a utility company.

The various governmental units in India were once deeply in debt to London. Now London is deeply in debt to India. This is the reversal of an ancient historic position, with a far-reaching meaning we've only begun to comprehend.

At the monetary conference at Bretton Woods, the head of the British delegation, Lord Keynes, tried to sum it up in terms of the money involved. He said Britain had acquired $12,000,000,000 of external debt during the war, at the same time that she had liquidated $4,000,000,000 of credits held abroad.

Britain, according to the picture presented discreetly in private conversations, is strapped at a time when she will need imports more than ever before. She will need imports to help get her industry back on a peacetime basis, to help start her export trade over again.

Then, too, the people of Britain have been promised a better standard of living. They have taken five years of hell, culminating with the robot assault. Men returning from five years of war can't be fobbed off with promises.

So what's the answer? How can the economic omelette be unscrambled?

Lend-lease for the transition period is the gentle hint that comes from the British. While they are not ready to say it publicly, their argument in private runs something like this:

"We are talking of really urgent necessities, and not of what is desirable. We simply cannot afford to pile up our external debt any higher. It would be impossible to liquidate it. You need Britain, as a going concern. If you let us down, the consequences will be tragic for the world."

There is a certain validity in that argument. How compelling it would be politically is another matter. Lend-lease to Britain would conceivably be extended to cover the war with Japan. Extending it into peacetime would seem to be, politically speaking, a hundred to one shot.

The "Prime Product" of England

By I.N.S. in The Ottawa Journal

"Never", said Dean Inge as he gently stroked his chin, "never, even when the stormclouds appear blackest, have I been tempted to wish that I was other than an Englishman."

Milton put it another way: "Let not England forget her precedence of teaching nations how to live."

These came to mind this week on reading a wondrous letter to the editor of the London Daily Telegraph by Sir James Marchant. The good people of that fast-anchored isle have a most enviable gift of being proud in an unconscious sort of way. Probably we in Canada would benefit if we could adopt some of that pride—it would balance the national inferiority complex that seems to persist in some quarters.

Sir James was reading a Nuffield College report that England must maintain ever-closer relations with fundamental science. Stuff, said Sir James to himself; stuff and nonsense.

"Sir", said he, taking pen in hand, "not by even a distant glance do these experts recognize what is, and must remain, if England is to live, her prime industry. It is to produce Englishmen. Other countries can supply raw materials for our use and can compete in manufacturing goods, but none can produce an Englishman."

Before reading any further we looked into Who's Who and found that Sir James is an authority on the production of Englishmen. From 1913 to 1931 he was secretary of the National Birth-Rate Commission and he has toured the whole continent of Europe investigating conditions of child life.

"Englishmen", continued Sir James in his letter, "are our prime home product. And not for England alone. Our dominions want Englishchildren more and more. The fatal shortage of virile Englishmen must be made good or they and our England will perish."

Sir James is also a minister, not Church of England but Presbyterian! From 1889 to 1893 he was Lecturer on Christian Apologetics to the Bishop of St. Albans and from that time to now has been prominent as a social writer and worker. We give you these details to complete the picture of an Englishman talking about the people he loves.

The rationing of English life, rich, adaptable, long-lived, balanced and reliable, must cease, writes Sir James. He then quotes from Price Collier the following paragraph:

"The English boy would be as a child in an examination room compared to French or German boys of his own age. But he is far more to be depended on, a far more companionable person, and much more at home in the world. The French and German youths are stuffed to the brim with book learning, while the English lad is, in many respects, a man. If the three of them go to the Colonies, we all know what happens. The French boy keeps the books, the German boy attends to the foreign correspondence, and the English boy manages both."

Sir James, who says in Who's Who that his hobby is astronomy, takes a dark view of certain modern trends, and asks:

"Are English children becoming a wasting inheritance? Has the machine sterilized the man? Have short-lived distractions emptied the English home of English children? The fabric of English civilization can only be maintained by Englishmen. Not our land and our dominions alone need English genius, English character, English humanity. Let us, after this war, get back as soon as we can to producing Englishmen.

"Perchance the coming springtime of our civilization, after the winter night, may produce another Shakespeare, and that would outweigh the ponderous industrial globe."

Well, there will be some eyebrow-raising at this good man's assurance. But let anyone who wishes to question him beware. Remember Tennyson's description of such a one, who while "curving a contumelious lip, gorgonized me from head to foot, with a stony British stare".

The English are long past definition, but this pride of country and selves is not new. The crew of Gilbert's HMS Pinafore had it this way:

He is an Englishman!
For he himself has said it,
And it's greatly to his credit,
That he is an Englishman!
For he might have been a Roosian,
A French or Turk or Proosian,
Or perhaps I-tall-an.
But in spite of all temptations
To belong to other nations,
He remains an Englishman.

Cowper said simply that "without one friend, about all foes. Britannia gives the world repose". Edmund Waller was a little more bugle-like:

Whether this portion of the world were rent,
By the rude ocean, from the continent,
Or thus created, it was sure designed
To be the sacred refuge of mankind.

Yet there are as many quotations in Stevenson's about the Englishman's faults as there are about his virtues, and mostly were they voiced by Englishmen.

Cecil Rhodes spoke of "the unctuous rectitude of my countrymen". Macaulay knew of "no spectacle so ridiculous as the British public in one of its periodical fits of morality". And Shaw, who once said that no Englishman is ever fairly beaten, asked "how can what an Englishman believes be heresy? It is a contradiction in terms."

Kipling declared that "Allah created the English mad—the maddest of all mankind"; but for a quiet observation packing lots of stuff Mark Twain mustn't be overlooked: "The English are mentioned in the Bible: Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth."

Other neat little barbs tossed from this side of the water include:

Emerson: "There is a prose in certain Englishmen, which exceeds in wooden deadness all rivalry with other countrymen."

O. W. Holmes: "The King (William IV) blew his nose twice, and wiped the Royal perspiration repeatedly from a face which is probably the largest uncivilized spot in England."

T. B. Aldrich: "An English tourist's preconceived idea of us is a thing he brings over with him on the steamer and carries home again intact."

Emerson: "Every one of these islanders is an island himself, safe, tranquil, incommunicable."

Probably this collection of bits on England should be concluded by going back to some of the nicer remarks. But those polished little epigrams annoy the hard-boiled Canadian. Johnny Canuck doesn't go for the conceited little aphorisms that the Englishman rather enjoys. Johnny Canuck is a modest sort of rough diamond who just says simply that Canadians are the best damn people in the world and lets it go at that. Sorry, Sir James.

Signs

TRANSATLANTIC DAILY MAIL

Signs on shops and vehicles in Britain giving place names can be used again. Mr. Morrison has lifted a war ban.

When invasion threatened in 1940 display of any sign having the name, situation, direction, or distance of any place was prohibited, if the sign could be read from a highway, train, or low-flying plane.

Under the new order the prohibition is limited to signs which can be read from low-lying aircraft.

This will allow re-erection of large numbers of signs on shops and other business premises, although large-scale signs on prominent buildings will still be ruled out.

If a sign is in a prominent position so that an uninterrupted view of it can be obtained from a low-flying plane, the lettering has to be not more than 6 inches high.

Exhibition of place names on vehicles is exempted from all restriction.

How London Takes the Robots

From the Transatlantic Daily Mail

It is possible now to answer some of the questions the world has been asking about Hitler's flying bomb attacks on London over the past few weeks. Here are questions and answers:

What is the damage like?

You have to look for it. It is indiscriminate, because this is an indiscriminate weapon—and London is a big city.

The main impression is of glass. Going through London casually, you will see, maybe in a day, the effects of a couple of bombs—blown out windows, with people still at work behind them: very many little houses with slates off and some small houses wiped out altogether.

Unless it is a strong, modern building, the place that gets the actual hit is liable to be brought down to its foundations.

But when the bomb falls in a modern, well built thoroughfare of big shops and offices, it is seldom that anything more than the windows and a bit of the roof go.

How are Londoners taking it?

As you would expect. They don't like it, and they don't pretend that they do.

But the great mass of them are getting on quietly with their jobs and making their own personal dispositions for getting a reasonable amount of sleep.

London, in fact, is carrying on, though suburbanites are more inclined to stay in their own suburbs in the evenings rather than come up to town.

Everyone certainly feels better since the Prime Minister has let the rest of the world know that London really is taking it again.

Are Londoners living a normal life?

The added sense of danger rules out "normalcy" in the strict sense of the word, but people are going to work as usual and going back to their homes at night as usual.

Many children and wives have gone to safer areas in the north.

Theatres, cinemas, and other entertainments are still attended.

On one Saturday crowds went to Victoria Park, Hackney, to listen to an orchestral concert. There was open air dancing at Clapham Common, Kilburn Grange, Camberwell Park, and Charlton Park.

There were concert parties in Stoke Newington, Hammersmith, and Chadwell; crowds attended an open air presentation of "Lilac Time" in Finsbury Park.

How do Londoners compare it with the blitz?

There are two views on this. Some people find the flying bomb uncanny, and therefore more unnerving than the blitz.

Others think that the flying bomb is much less worrying than the blitz was.

They argue that you can hear the flying bomb coming in plenty of time; you can judge about where it is going to fall, and if you use your head you have plenty of time to take cover.

With all the roar of the London traffic, how can people hear them coming?

The roof spotters of London now co-operate. They signal from roof to roof the direction of the next bomb.

What do Londoners do when they see or hear a bomb coming?

They try to judge how near it will fall, and, having made up their minds about that, they either go on with what they are doing or, if they think it is pretty near, seek shelter from glass.

If it is very near indeed when the engine cuts out, they dive immediately for safety.

Are people still travelling to and from London?

Yes. The trains carrying workers to and from the suburbs and from the country and seaside dormitories are running as usual, and always dead on time.

Fewer women are coming to London to shop, it is true, but all the city workers who live in the suburbs are making the trip as usual.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

Map above shows how chains of islands form a defensive "fence" screening Japan itself. But attack on Saipan, Bonin and Volcano islands proved enemy's vital barriers are vulnerable to guns of American fleet and bombs of carrier-based planes. Japs' position will become even more critical as Yanks establish bases for long-range bombers on Saipan.

One Young Girl Reported Killed In Sask. Cyclone

VERIGIN, Sask., Aug. 11.—(CP)—Miss M. E. Yuzik, of Kamsack, reported here yesterday that a young girl had died from head injuries suffered during the cyclone at Kamsack Wednesday night.

Miss Yuzik arrived here with several other residents of the stricken town.

Her home, a three-room cottage, was picked up by the wind and carried a block, where it crashed to the street, with all its contents destroyed.

She said the storm cut a path of about four blocks wide, from east to west, down the main street of Kamsack.

It first struck about three miles east of the town, wrecking farm buildings and flattening crops.

51 Athabaskan Men Reported War Prisoners

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—Previously listed as missing, 51 men—two officers and 49 ratings—from the sunken Canadian destroyer Athabaskan were disclosed last night by naval service headquarters to be prisoners of war in German hands.

The list brought to 80 the number of men now known to have been taken prisoner after the Athabaskan went down when pierced by a Nazi torpedo during a pre-invasion sweep off the French invasion coast in April.

The Athabaskan's companion ship, the Haida, rescued 46 from the sinking vessel after she was hit, and later the navy announced 187 officers and men were missing. With 80 known to be prisoners of war, the list of missing now stands at 107.

The Germans claimed after the action that 85 men were taken prisoner as they drifted on life rafts.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

FORM players had their best day of the current race meeting at Exhibition track when four favorites came home in front on Thursday evening. In the third and sixth races the highly favored entries finished in second position, each time a fourth choice being on top.

Two of the hosses held in greatest esteem came through on Saturday, while three lived up to expectations on Monday and one on both Tuesday and Wednesday. In other words, past performances have supplied the magic formula for actual winners in 11 races out of 35 during the five days so far.

Yesterday, Larry Junior in the second half of the double, Gay Guy in the fourth, Blue Stone in the fifth and Lev's Dust in the quinella event did not disappoint the cautious folk. In addition Vain Cholly, judged by his great recovery after being forced wide on the first turn, might have taken the opening event. The other favorites never had a chance.

ONLY TWO CLAIMS SO FAR

GAY GUY, formerly owned by Mrs. J. R. Kipling of Calgary and winner of the fourth race, passed into new hands immediately following his impressive run, when he never relinquished first place and won easily by over three lengths. Claiming price was $500 and L. P. Jacques is the new owner.

Haltermen have not been very active since the meet began here. The only other claim put through being made by Jack Smith of Calgary who took Kingbroom from the same L. P. Jacques after the third race on Tuesday. The price also was $500.

No doubt there were a few hunch bets riding on Edmonton in the first race. Looked like a perfect setup. In any event those players who put a few shekels on Edmonton in Edmonton received a sizeable return—$17.55 for straight tickets and an interest in the double which later turned out to be worth $119.80, largest to date.

Thursday was a big day too for R. (Red) McKenzie, who broke his maiden by bringing in Lev's Dust in the seventh race. "Red" lives in South Edmonton and is just 17 years of age. He gave the favorite in the quinella a nice ride, staying back third until he hit the half, then moveing up to second at the three-quarter and finally winning over Sable Gift.

PLAYOFF TIME CLOSE

BALL fans who sat in on last night's session between Dodgers and Yanks saw one of the best played games of the season and it is not hard to visualize a swell playoff in the making. Two of the spots are already claimed by these clubs and Arrows still have an outside chance to take the other from U.S. Signals, whom they meet Saturday night.

George Green added another base on balls to his list and has now a total of 18. Gino Valenti's pair of runs batted in gave him 14, two under Harry Baldwin and Manuel Dorsky and one less than Ralph Morgan.

Don't forget Army and Navy Pats play the first of their Alberta fastball final series with Calgary Chinooks at Kingsway on Saturday. Pats' top batter is Mary Verenka, who is hitting .394. Others are: Ruth Brault .287, Thora Stewart .276, Teddie Howey .269, Theresa LaFleur .256, Merrie Mercer .227, Nadine Hatch .208, Gen Spargo .200, Ruby Ford .190, Mary Hegarty .185, Jean Stewart .180, Peggy Edwards .128, Elsie Barlow .125, Laurette Brault .111.

Harry Baldwin Registers Third Straight in Senior Ball Circuit

Dodgers Regain Lead Beating Yanks 5-4

Half Game Separates Two Clubs

DODGERS moved back into the top berth in the Senior Baseball League standings when they squeezed out a 5-4 victory over the Yanks at Renfrew Park on Thursday night. The U.S. Army nine had held the lead since July 18 when they ousted Chuck Henderson's club, pace-setters up to that time and who now hold a half game margin.

In marking up his third straight win Capt. Harry Baldwin gave up eight hits, six of them in the first four innings, but he received a shade better support than his opponent Forrest Hunter, who also was nudged for eight bingles. Two Dodger runs were unearned as against one for Yanks.

The first three hits made by the Dodgers were for extra bases—triples by Dave Brockie and George Green and a double by Baldwin, and each was good for a run. Doug Roush of Yanks also teed off for a three-bagger first time up.

Joe Shandro was batting and his bunt was direct to Hunter who easily threw out Brockie coming in from third, Goodrich making the putout. Green then clubbed a triple to the south fence in left field and Shandro came in to make the count 3-0.

Yanks registered twice in the third. With one away, Dorsky singled to centre and stole third. Roush grounded to Ottem at first, but Galvin drew a pass. Both Yanks came home on Valenti's hit to centre.

Brockie opened the fourth with his second hit, a scratch single to second baseman Schumacher. He scored on Superstein's drive into right field. Superstein made the middle station on the throwin and kept right on for third. He had Goodrich's throw beaten anyway, but the toss was wide and Ab. came home.

An error with two down set up the initial Dodger count. After Green had flied out to Burchfield and Stevenson to Galvin at short, Mel Ottem got a life when Schumacher juggled his ground ball. Baldwin then got hold one of Forrest Hunter's fast ones and drove it into deep left close to the scoreboard. Dorsky almost pulled it down. Ottem scored easily. Morgan lifted one to Valenti for the third out.

Dodgers counted two more in the second. Cliff Robinson walked and completed the journey on Brockie's first hit, a triple to deep centre. After Superstein had flied to Dorsky in left, Dodgers tried a squeeze but it didn't come off.

Schumacher started the Yank half of the fourth by dropping a single into centre. Goodrich flied to Green, but Hunter hit safely to send Schumacher in and he reached third himself when Stevenson threw wildly to the plate. Hunter scored on Burchfield's long fly to Green.

Hunter allowed only hit after the fourth, a single by Brockie in the sixth. Wilbur Ray worked the final inning after Hunter had given way to pinch-hitter Crumly in the eighth, Superstein got the lone hit off Ray.

Yanks looked dangerous in the last of the eighth after Meyers and Schumacher both hit. Schumacher, however was caught off first—Robinson to Ottem and Baldwin struck out both Goodrich and Crumly.

Moose Rally in 8th Inning To Trounce Aircraft 6-3

Four runs in the eighth inning Thursday night gave Moose a 6-3 victory over Aircraft Repair in a City Men's Fastball League fixture at Kingsway Park. The opener, between Walk-Rite "B" and Bomberettes was defaulted by the former.

The four runs by Moose in the eighth session came on a walk, three singles and a double. This combination sent Bert Castenelli, Eddie Goyan, Alex Yack and short stop Sebastian around the bases, and broke up a tightly played fastball session.

Aircraft Repair scored two in the second and one in the fourth to gain a nice lead, but the winners opened up in the fifth for one and added another in the seventh before rallying in the eighth to win.

Wilbur Orr, who led the hitting with two for three, pitched outstanding ball until the eighth when he was jumped on for four safeties. Bert Castenelli and Leo Cherot worked on the mound for Moose and let up eight hits between them.

Wagering Continues High

Daily Double Pays $119.80, Biggest of Meet to Date

A new high of $119.80 for the daily double in Edmonton's 10-day race meet being held at the Exhibition Grounds track was posted on Thursday, the fifth day, when Edmonton, with Jockey Bob Taves aboard, won the first race and Larry Junior, with Jose Vina up, came first by a neck in the second to combine for the neat sum.

Attendance and wagering continued high and over 4,000 race fans poured $65,323 through the mutuels. The total take was some $18,000 under Monday's record for the meet, but was considered high for a mid-week day.

Public choices came through in four of the seven races, but some nice prices were paid on the others. Edmonton returned $17.55 to win in the first—the longest price of the day—and although Larry Junior was not a longshot he gave his backers $5.80 for nose bets and made the large double possible.

FORCED OUT ON TURN

In the first race Vain Cholly, favorite was almost "run" out of the money when he was forced to take a wide swing on the first turn by Bobpara, running in his initial race. He made a nice recovery, however, and bettered his position the rest of the way around to come in for show money.

Vina, Taves and Wintle led the jockeys for the day, each booting in two winners. A local rider, "Red" McKenzie, rode the first winner of his career in the last race when he brought in the favored Lev's Dust.

Race officials announced at the track yesterday that another jockey, Freddie Soloman had been indefinitely suspended for "an unsatisfactory ride on Genies Boy in the third race on Wednesday."

The best Joe Braddish, one of the leading riders of the circut, could do Thursday was bring in one horse to show.

PAGAN QUEEN RUNS WELL

One of the best races of the day was run by E. B. Miller's Pagan Queen, winner of the third. She was fifth at the quarter, fell back to sixth at the half, was the same at the three-quarters, and then Jockey Taves let her go when she hit the stretch and she passed almost the entire field to win by a length over Green Turban.

Mrs. J. R. Kipling's Gay Guy, winner of the fourth, who was claimed by L. P. Jacques for $400 registered the best time of the day when he came within two seconds of tying the track record on what was considered fairly heavy. He won by over three lengths from Merry Centaur, who was only a neck ahead of Sum Tam. A photo finish was necessary to decide the second and third spots.

QUINELLA ONLY $12.10

In contrast to the daily double, the Quinella on the seventh race of Lev's Dust and Sable Gift returned the smallest of the meet—only $12.10. It was almost a "sure thing" for the winner, who went to the post at even odds. She was in the thick right from the start and had a lead she couldn't maintain, but came back strongly in the stretch to catch Sable Gift and win.

A total of 497 Quinella tickets were cashed for the small amount, but only 29 successfully picked the double on the first and second races. The Gross pool on the double was $4,186.06 and the total gross pool on the quinella in the last was $7,260, the third largest of the meet.

The feature, the Conquistador Handicap, which was a distance of about five furlongs was easily won by the favored Blue Stone, given a nice ride by Wintle. The race was for three-year-olds and up.

W. F. Howard and W. Smitten Take Doubles Competition

W. F. Howard and Walter Smitten of the Edmonton Club became the new provincial doubles champions and holders of the Edmonton Journal trophy in the Alberta Lawn Bowling Association's annual tournament Thursday night when they defeated the Calgary pair of Jim Wares and Jim Moors 19-7 in the final played at Patricia greens.

The secondary event in the open doubles for the George Buchanan Memorial trophy was also won by an Edmonton Club combination, Jim Anderson and Archie Donald taking the final match from J. Johnston and W. Weir of Calgary 16-10. This game was also played at the Patricia greens last night along with the other playoffs.

A five-game qualifying draw was played on Thursday and eight of the 72 pairs competing in the competition became eligible to playoff for the cups. Monty Cunningham-Sid Green of Calgary and A. Figg-W. J. Williams of the Canadian Legion club headed the qualifiers with five victories in the round.

Howard and Smitten were next to the leaders with four wins and a draw and the other five to qualify for the two playoffs—Jim Wares-Jim Moors, Calgary; John Martin-Pat Steele, Royal; Johnston-Weir; Rev. D. C. Ramsey-Dr. V. S. Kaufman, Garneau; and Anderson and Donald—all registered four triumphs and had one setback in the five matches.

In the Journal trophy semi-finals Howard and Smitten handed Cunningham and Green their first defeat, 14-6, and the Wares-Moors pair won over Figg and Williams 14-11. The two winners then met in the final and the champs won easily to cop the silverware.

Second prize in the main doubles event went to the defeated finalists while Cunningham and Green beat Figg and Williams 10-8 for third and fourth money respectively.

In the George Buchanan Memorial competition, Anderson and Donald won from Martin and Steele 13-6 in the semi-final and then knocked over Johnston and Weir in the last game. The unsuccessful finalists defeated Rev. Ramsey and Dr. Kaufman 12-10 in the other semi-final.

Browns Win 10th Straight In Blanking Yankees 3-0

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(AP)—St. Louis all but eliminated New York Yankees from the American League race Thursday as Denny Galehouse shut out the McCarthy clan with six singles for the Brownies' 10th straight victory by a 3-0 score.

Galehouse hung up his fifth successive victory after losing three starts in the early season when he was a Sunday tosser on part time from a defence plant. Only one Yankee, Johnny Lindell in the seventh, reached base as the American League champions suffered their eighth whitewash and dropped 9½ games behind the flying Brownies.

Al Zarilla, who won Wednesday's series opener with a homer, drove in the first score for the league leaders with a fourth-inning single after Gene Moore doubled.

Four hits in the sixth sealed Ernie Bonham's fate as Moore, Zarilla, Tom Turner and Galehouse contributed singles for two home runs.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Boston Red Sox took Chicago 2-1 Thursday but the White Sox stole the show with a triple play, their second of the American League season against the Boston club.

The triple play came in the fourth inning after the Red Sox filled the bases on successive singles by Pete Fox, Bob Johnson and Bobby Doerr.

Al Hodgin made a beautiful one-hand catch of Jim Tabor's line drive just inside third, then stepped on the base to put out Fox and threw to Ed Carnett at first to catch Doerr.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Pitcher Mort Cooper got his 18th victory—a shutout to boot—and George Burowski his 13th home run as St. Louis Cardinals defeated Philadelphia 2-0 Thursday night.

Cooper gave up four hits while Al Gerheauser, relieved by Fick in the eighth, allowed the Cards eight. Last night's shutout was the sixth of the season for Cooper.

CAST-OFFS HAUNT REDS

CINCINNATI, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Two Cincinnati cast-offs came back to haunt the Reds last night as the Boston Braves defeated them, 2-0, behind Charles (Red) Barrett's two-hit pitching.

Red used to work here but didn't last, Damon Phillips, just a utility infielder for the Reds several years ago, knocked in one of the Braves' runs with a single and scored the other after hitting a double.

Bucky Walters, trying for his 17th victory, got his sixth defeat instead.

DODGERS DEFEAT CUBS 6-4

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Tom Warren, whose wounds suffered at Casablanca brought his discharge from the United States Navy, stroked a pinch single in the 10th inning Thursday that brought Brooklyn a 6-4 National League verdict over the Chicago Cubs.

Bill Nicholson and Andy Pafko hit homers in the second to give the Cubs a 3-0 lead and the Dodgers didn't deadlock the count until the seventh when starting pitcher Claude Passeau was knocked out in a run down and was replaced by Paul Derringer.

PIRATES TRIM GIANTS

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates made it two straight over New York Giants Thursday, this time by a 10-4 score, but Rip Sewell, their ace pitcher, wasn't around to claim the victory.

Sewell, winner of only two of previous eight starts, hurled the first 4 2-3 innings but then his lame arm weakened and Preacher Roe took over.

Both Better Par By Three

Canadian, U.S. Pro Golfer Leading Scarboro Tourney

SCARBORO, Ont., Aug. 11.—(CP)—A Canadian and an United States professional golfer shared the lead in the opening round of the $7,500 Maple Leaf invitation golf tournament Thursday at the Scarboro Club. Bob Burns, smooth-stroking pro of the Weston, Ont., golf club, and Al Watrous, Oakland Hills Golf Club, Detroit, cut the par 71 of the 6,436-yard layout by three strokes, carding two neat 68's.

Right behind them was Stanley Horne, Montreal's recent winner of the Quebec open, who was two under par with a 69, coming in with a brilliant 31 over the par 36 last nine.

Four players posted 70's. They were: Freddie Wood of Vancouver, Joe Kirkwood, Sr., Bill Kerr, Toronto, recent winner of the eastern Canada open title, and Willie Lamb of the Toronto Lambton Club.

One amateur, Frank Dowsett of the Cedar Brae Club near Toronto, and four pros, Bob Gray, Toronto; Jack Littler, Kingston, Ont.; Gerry Proulx, Montreal and Dick Borthwick, Toronto, carried even pars.

Burns was particularly steady during the tour. He was even par right to the ninth when he dropped his putt for a birdie three. Coming in he birdied the 11th and 15th to finish out the 18 with even pars. At no time did he go over regulation figures.

Leon Blum

Former Premier of France Said 'Death Factory' Victim

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Konstantin Simonov, correspondent for the army newspaper Red Star, made public yesterday a story that indicated former Premier Leon Blum of France had died at the Nazis' death factory near Lublin.

Simonov's story of Hitler's biggest enterprise dedicated to the destruction of life said hundreds of thousands of persons, principally Jews, were systematically and methodically killed there since the start of the winter of 1941.

The correspondent said the "extermination camp" consisted of death fields with scientific crematories and a system of gallows which Blum was forced to help build.

ENGINEER'S STORY

Interviewing two Lublin engineers who reported they saw Blum at the death factory in May of last year, Simonov got this story:

"You know who that man is?" asked a Lublin Jew who knew one of the engineers, indicating an elderly man dragging some planks. "He is Leon Blum."

The engineer said he stopped the old man and asked:

"Are you Leon Blum?"

"Yes," said the old man. "I am Leon Blum."

"The Prime Minister of France?"

"Yes, the Prime Minister of France."

The engineer asked the man how he got to Lublin.

"With the last group of French prisoners," he replied wearily.

"Why did you not save yourself there at home? Was it impossible?"

SHARE PEOPLE'S FATE

"I do not know," the man replied. "Perhaps I could not. I decided to share the fate of my people."

A week later the two engineers returned to camp and met the man who had introduced them to Blum. They asked where he was.

The man lifted his hands towards the sky.

"There," he replied, "where we will all be soon."

Moderately Strong 'Quakes Recorded

VICTORIA, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Moderately strong earth tremors at a point about 700 miles northeast of Victoria, possibly in the vicinity of the Queen Charlotte Islands, were registered at the Dominion astrophysical observatory here yesterday. Dr. J. A. Pearce, director of the observatory, said it was possible the tremors were under the ocean so that the shocks would have been cushioned before reaching any settlement in the Queen Charlottes.

Poles to Receive Russian Amnesty

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

MOSCOW, Aug. 11—Radio Moscow announced today an amnesty for Polish citizens sentenced for crimes committed on Soviet soil except those of espionage, banditry and murder.

The decree was issued by the presidium of the supreme Soviet Union "on the occasion of the victorious Soviet advance, in collaboration with Polish troops, on Polish territory which marks the beginning of the liberation of the Polish people from the German yoke."

The decree also applies to Polish citizens whose affairs are in the hands of investigative or juridical authorities.

"Tin Hats" Troupe Back in England

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(CP)—The "Tin Hats," the Canadian Army's own concert party composed of non-commissioned ranks, are back in England after an attempt to reach Normandy for an entertainment tour which resulted in three of their party being listed as missing along with a Canadian soldier attached to them as driver.

Pte. Bert Witheral, trombonist from Kingston, Ont., Pte. Joe Rennie, Vancouver, stage manager, and a third member of the troupe were missing after the small ship in which they were crossing the channel was involved in a naval action. Among the injured was Harold Van Buskirk, Edmonton song and dance man.

The "Tin Hats" recently completed a tour of Italy where they played to more than 100,000 members of the forces. Sgt. Wally Brennan of Winnipeg, director of the party, and Cpl. Joe Rocks, Edmonton singer, said they are ready to undertake the trip again.

Huns Shoot Own Officer In Order to Surrender

By HAL BOYLE

ST. MALO, France, Aug. 11.—(AP)—German troops began shooting their own officers Wednesday in order to surrender as American troops in flaming hand-to-hand battles occupied all St. Malo except the port's rocky citadel.

Inside this battered granite fortress the enemy garrison still held out at 6 p.m. under the command of fanatical leader, Col. Von Aulock, a tall, gray-haired man who was carrying out to the bitter end his threat to make this fashionable beach resort a "new Stalingrad."

Streaming back from barricaded streets are remnants of his motley army—hundreds of Todt organization workers, marines, headquarters soldiers, truck drivers, cooks, parachute troops, sailors and "punishment platoons," a beaten, sweaty dirty misfit group of soldiers who had lost most of their Nazi cockiness. Many are middleaged, many are wounded, many limp as they march to the rear.

THROWN INTO COMBAT

"Their commander just lined up every German in the port area, gave a machine-gun to every fifth man and a rifle to the others and threw them all into the front-line of combat," said Capt. T. C. Roberts, West Hartford, Conn. "They are a sloppy army."

Many more prisoners were taken Wednesday, raising the total for the four-day siege to at least 3,800, and another 3,000 wounded are reported in the large hospital within the city.

"They have been giving up in groups of 100 or more," said Capt. Roberts. "We bagged a couple of lieutenant colonels and a lot of other officers. One lieutenant colonel had been wounded by his own men so they could give up.

"Several prisoners told us they kept fighting only because the officers held pistols to their backs."

Senate Passes Allowance Bill But on Division

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—The government's family allowance bill yesterday was passed by the Senate after a spirited debate in which frequent reference was made to a speech Wednesday night by Premier George Drew of Ontario stating his government would do everything within its power to see the measure did not go into effect.

Senator C. C. Ballantyne, Progressive Conservative Senate leader, asked that the bill be held up until consultation was held with the provinces. The bill passed on division without a recorded vote.

To Lift Restrictions Building Materials

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe said last night in the Commons that restrictions on building materials will be lifted as soon as supply comes up to the demand. Mr. Howe said that in the allocation of available materials the small home builders wiuld be given preference when possible.

Accept Currency

LONDON, Aug. 11. — (AP) — Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the United States treasury, returned yesterday from a visit to the American sector in Normandy and said he found the former German-supported black markets wiped out and Allied currency "being received with complete confidence by the local population and the banks of the area."

Plan Rubber Study

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(CP)—Britain, the United States and the Netherlands have agreed to study post-war world rubber production and requirements as a preliminary to agreeing on some sort of international rubber control program, it was disclosed last night.

Reveal U.S. Feared Attack on Chicago

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—The Canadian Navy has heard of no U-boats in the Hudson Bay area, but it has heard fears expressed from United States sources that enemy undersea raiders, equipped with planes, might penetrate to James Bay and launch attacks against Chicago, it was learned from a reliable source here yesterday.

He was commenting on a dispatch from Churchill, Man., where the United States Army has constructed a $18,000,000 air base and where a Winnipeg Tribune reporter heard stories of submarines in Hudson Bay. He wrote that "apparently a number did make their way into Hudson Bay."

"The chap who wrote that must have heard of some of the early fears that circulated in the United States that the Germans might use Hudson Bay to launch an attack on Chicago," the source declared.

Expect 2,000,000 Without Homeland

LONDON, Aug. 11—(AP)—Approximately 2,000,000 refugees without a country will remain after Europe's uprooted millions are returned to their homes after the war, the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration estimated yesterday.

The war has displaced some 12,000,000 persons in Europe, 9,000,000 of whom have been conscripted by the Nazis to work in the war factories and on the farms in Germany and Austria, Fred Taylor, head of the UNRRA displaced persons divisions, told a press conference.

The remaining 3,000,000 are mostly somewhere in occupied countries other than their own yet all these do not include a surplus of 2,000,000 Europeans, he said.

These will be former inhabitants of various European countries "whose own countries won't take them back or who don't want to go back," he added.

UNRRA will maintain these people until suitable resettlement areas can be found for them by the intergovernmental committee on refugees.

Canada's Supply Of Automobiles Dwindling Fast

OTTAWA, Aug. 11—(CP)—Canada's supply of passenger automobiles—both new and used—is dwindling to a point where it has become essential to have the best possible use made of cars that remain on the road, J. H. Berry, munitions department motor vehicle controller, said yesterday.

In broad terms the picture is this:

When the last civilian pasenger car came off the assembly lines of Canadian automotive plants in March, 1942, there were still a number of cars in the hands of manufacturers and dealers. Of these, 4,500 went into a government-controlled pool to assure supplies for highly essential users such as doctors and police forces.

POOL CUT IN HALF

The pool now is down to half its original size and with demands increasing as cars become older it is estimated it will be exhausted in another 10 months.

Thus car purchasers have been forced to an increasing extent to turn to used car markets for transportation and this resulted in violations of the price ceiling regulations.

The prices board put into effect Aug. 1, an order requiring compulsory price tagging of all cars held by dealers and a detailed report of each sale in triplicate, with one copy filed with the nearest local office of the board within four days of the sale.

CHECK ON SALES

The new regulations are aimed at supporting sales of used cars at legal prices and are designed as a closer check on private sales, which must now be reported in detail. The same must give full particulars, including his name and address, full description of the car and the proposed selling price.

"This," Mr. Berry explained, "is intended to give us an overall picture of the used car situation."

Cutback Ordered In Plane Output To Free Workers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—(AP)—A sweeping cutback in aircraft production, affecting Liberator bombers, commando transports and Thunderbolt fighters, was ordered by the United States war department last night to clear the way for the huge new B-29 and B-32 superbombers and to release workers for more critical jobs. Twenty thousand workers will be affected immediately and an estimated 100,000 more will be laid off by the end of this year, said the announcement released by the office of war information.

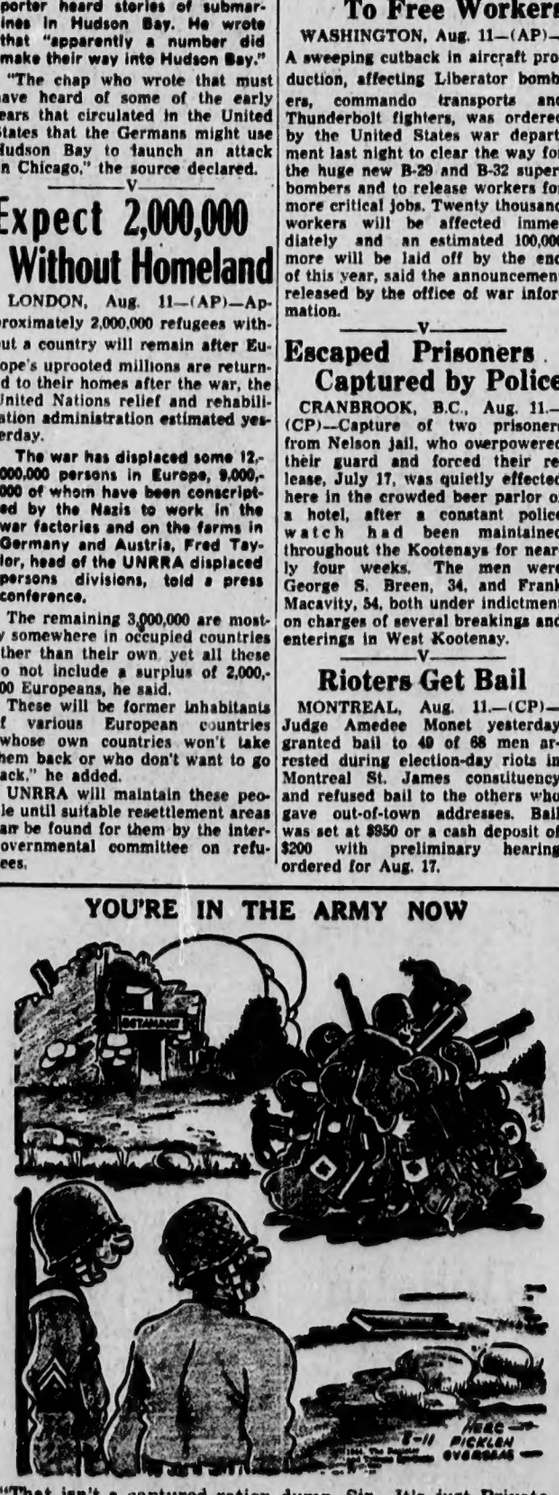

Escaped Prisoners Captured by Police

CRANBROOK, B.C., Aug. 11.—(CP)—Capture of two prisoners from Nelson jail, who overpowered their guard and forced their release, July 17, was quietly effected here in the crowded beer parlor of a hotel, after a constant police watch had been maintained throughout the Kootenays for nearly four weeks. The men were George S. Breen, 34, and Frank Macavity, 54, both under indictment on charges of several breakings and enterings in West Kootenay.

Recover Engines: Still Seek Truck

All six airplane engines, reported as having been standing on a truck which was stolen from the Western Transfer company, 10341 106 street, sometime Wednesday night, were recovered Thursday by police.

Three of the engines were found before noon Thursday in the vicinity of Dunvegan yards. The remaining three were recovered about a mile away, near a brickyard. No trace was reported of the truck.

An early report of the theft of the engines, which had been consigned to Aircraft Repair, Ltd., stated that the value of them was approximately $150,000. It has since been learned that each engine was worth about $10,000, or approximately $60,000 for the six engines.

The engines, all new, had been pushed from the truck and abandoned, it was stated. Investigations are continuing.

Sudetenlanders Now Applying For Citizenship

Nearly all members of the 170 families of Sudetenlanders in the Peace River district, who fled the Nazi occupation of their homeland in 1938, are now applying for Canadian citizenship, having completed five years of residence in Canada and the morale of the "colony" was never higher.

This is the report brought back from the colony by T. O. F. Herzer, general manager of the Canada Colonization Association, a CPR subsidiary, who has returned after attending a celebration marking the fifth anniversary of the arrival of the refugees in the north.

For the last two years the colonists have been on their own, the colonization association having withdrawn from supervision of their activities.

Nearly all the colonists now speak good English, the older members picking up the language rapidly since construction of the Alaska Highway and the children learning it at school.

GOOD FARMERS

In farming the Sudetenlanders have been highly successful and although crops in the district this year are below normal, the colony will harvest barley and oat crops of about 70,000 bushels. Wheat crops will be light.

Cutting is in full progress and the colony has 300 to 400 acres of new breaking this year.

There are about 3,300 acres in the settlement.

LARGER STORE

The co-operative store in the district has been enlarged and moved to a larger building.

There have been many intermarriages with Canadians in the area, and early jealousies have disappeared, Mr. Herzer said.

Last Friday a program of native folk dances by the children was held and proceeds went for building a community hall.

HOMELAND DANCES

On Sunday the main celebration observing the fifth anniversary of the colony's establishment, was held, with dances of the old homeland featuring.

H. J. Siemens and A. W. McArton, former supervisors of the colony for the Canada Colonization Association accompanied Mr. Herzer on his visit north.

THE QUESTION

What is your reaction to the statement made here Thursday by Hon. Ray Atherton, United States Ambassador, that Canadian United States projects in the northwest would be continued in the post war period?

THE ANSWERS

HAROLD FORGIE, clerk: It will be a good idea, I am sure. If it was a good thing to commence such projects in wartime, there is no doubt it will be beneficial to both to continue them in peace time.

MARTHA THORBURN, stenographer: Canada and the United States have worked in close co-operation on many projects throughout the years and I am confident that both will benefit by continued co-operation in the northwest in the post war era.

• • •

CHARLES FRANKLIN, teamster: The development of the great northwest will be a big problem and it will be worth the combined efforts of the two great countries to bring the resources of the north into practical use.

Dominion Will Equip, Furnish New Sanatorium

The Dominion Government has agreed to furnish and equip Alberta's planned half-million-dollar tuberculosis sanatorium to be built on the University of Alberta campus, it was learned from government officials here Friday.

It is estimated the Dominion's contribution to the institution will run into $250,000, bringing total cost of the sanatorium to $750,000.

Construction of the tuberculosis unit will begin almost immediately, and foundations are expected to be complete by fall. As yet, no decision has been reached as to location of the structure on the university campus. This was under discussion some time ago, but was deferred under pressure of the provincial election.

Announcement of Ottawa's intention to furnish and equip the institution will speed a decision as to site of the building, after which public works department officials will begin building preparations.

300 BEDS

The sanatorium will contain 300 beds, according to earlier plans announced by the government. Its location will be near the University hospital and medical school, and will probably be operated in connection with these institutions.

Plans for the sanatorium were first announced in February, 1943, by the late Premier William Aberhart.

At that time, priorities for its construction were not available, all construction material and medical equipment being needed for the war effort.

ANOTHER APPLICATION

Later in 1943, another application for priorities was made this also receiving refusal at Ottawa.

This spring, however, the picture changed, and the Dominion government indicated construction priorities might be granted if certain plans were changed to a slight degree. The changes were made and rushed east for government approval, which has been given.

Camp Leaders Given Advice On Activities

Leaders of the "Y" in-the-city camps met Thursday evening at the YMCA to listen to advice and guidance from members of the executive of the YMCA and YWCA, who have long been interested with this type of work. This year the leaders are very young, most of them never having had any training in this type of work, and the conference was held for the purpose of letting them know how camps throughout the Dominion of Canada had been run and the methods of recreation used in other years.

Miss Hazeldine Bishop, executive director of the Council of Social Agencies, briefly reviewed the history, development and objective of the camps. She stressed the usefulness of them and how much benefit is gained by the youngsters who participate at such little cost.

TEN OPERATING

Ten camps are operating this summer. During this time it is believed that about 500 to 600 children between the ages of eight and fourteen will take part. Particular emphasis is placed on the development of the children in the ten to fourteen age group.

Talking on phychological and other factors influencing effective work, Margaret Hart, girls' secretary of the YWCA said "the age between about nine and fourteen seems to be one of the most humorous stages of a child's development. It also has a very serious side too, for it is about this time that they try to distinguish fact from fancy."

Further she pointed out that the young leaders must make the child feel he is secure, recognized and above all an individual.

Outdoor activities and features of urban camps were the topic of Miss B. Martin, leader of the Girl Guides. She demonstrated the building of fires and told of the most convenient ways to cook edible food on hikes and in camps. Mrs. P. A. Rooney demonstrated nature handicrafts, wood carving, blueprinting, pressing of flowers and scrap books.

ADVISES ON HIKES

The program, secretary of the YMCA, Ralph Young, gave a talk on how to make interesting hikes. "The motto used by this group when on nature study trips and just plain hikes should be 'watch living things live'."

He pointed out different means of stimulating interest in birds, the weather, local small animals and plants and trees. Also recommended was the extending of invitations to people who were interested in these different phases of "living things" and have them give talks to the youngsters once in a while.

The evening ended with the group of about 25 dividing and dispersing to various rooms for a program in which they as individuals were most interested. "Bill" Pettigrew led the discussion of singsongs; Doris Little, campfire ceremonies and worship; Doug Carr, campfires and Miss K. Lind group games.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Feel They Owe Parents Little But Lip Service

Children Are Self-Centred: Whenever Asked Small Favors or Sent on Short Errands They Whine, Sulk and Complain

DEAR MISS DIX: I have three children whom I love very much, two girls, ages 14 and 10, and a 12-year-old boy. Sometimes they seem to love me very much. They are always planning surprises for me, rush to meet me when I return from work and are respectful and polite at all times. But whenever I ask small favors of them or send them on short errands, they whine and sulk and complain that other fathers do not do that.

I am sure that they are far from being overworked and I like to think that a father can ask his children to do things for him once in a while. Do you think my children have a dislike for me?

PUZZLED PAPA.

Answer: Certainly not. From your own account, they must be unusually devoted to you. The only reason that they whine and sulk when you ask them to make a small return for all you do for them is because they are children and selfish and self-centred and have no sense of any obligation to you. Children think about their fathers pretty much as they do about God, as the source from which all blessings flow, and it doesn't occur to them that they owe them anything but lip service or a perfunctory "thank you" now and then.

I doubt if children ever think of their father as someone who works hard to provide them with a good home; who goes shabby that they might have fine clothes; who never takes a vacation so that they may go off to camps in the summer. They just take him for granted as a specimen of the genus homo whose natural habitat is the office or the factory; who has a queer fancy for old clothes, and who prefers the tail end of the steak and the backbone of the chicken. They feel that he was somehow provided by Nature for their convenience and it isn't up to them to make any returns for favors received.

Children have to be civilized and socialized, and you have to do it by making the youngsters, from their infancy up, do something for Pop besides working him.

ASKS QUESTIONS

DEAR MISS DIX: The question I want to ask you is: What do you think is the reason my husband never asks me to come to his office? Occasionally I go downtown to meet my husband but I always wait for him downstairs. If he is still busy, he wants me to wait in the car. But he never supposes that I should come upstairs and wait for him in his office.

CURIOUS WIFE.

Answer: The reason husbands do not like their wives to come to their offices is because a wife in a office is a disrupting factor. She breaks up the routine and slows the tempo down. Her advent changes the whole atmosphere of the place.

The husband has to pretend to be overjoyed and give her a glad welcome, no matter how rushed with business he is. She has to be introduced all around. If the husband is talking with a man with whom he has been trying to put through a deal that he has been working on for months, everything goes to pot because the strange man won't talk business with a strange woman listening in.

And generally the wife glowers at Miss Pothooks and Miss Pothooks glowers back because she will be kept overtime by the letters she could have gotten through if the wife hadn't come.

INSURANCE

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband has all of his insurance made out to his mother and refuses to change it. Don't you think he should carry it for the baby and me? My insurance has been made out to him. I have been considering changing the beneficiary.

A READER.

Answer: I think the wife and baby should have priority unless the mother is old and helpless while the wife is young and able to be self-supporting.

If your husband pays the premiums on your insurance, he has the right to expect to be the beneficiary of it.

Debunker

Fruit growers have for many years protected their orchards from frost by building fires among the trees on cold nights. They believed that the heat from the fires warmed the air and kept away frosts. When smokeless heaters were invented for orchards, the frosts were not kept away, and experiments revealed the surprising fact that it was not the heat of the fires that saved the trees, but it was the smoke which formed a blanket that prevented ground radiation.

Points for Parents

Mother: "Living in this little apartment gives Jim no place to play in the dirt so we've fixed a box of it on a big square of oilcloth and he's happy with his spoons, and small flower pots."

Mother: "We can't find a place to live except this small apartment and son is like a young lion caged up here—he misses a yard to play in and he's slowly driving me crazy."

War Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX

If the supply of local fowl is generous, try this French version of chicken in the pot for special guests. It's the prized recipe of Fontarce McCormick, author of "Little Cognette." So is the French family rice cake.

BRITTANY CHICKEN
(Serves 4)

Two pounds chicken breasts, split by butcher, 1½ pounds green string beans (already cooked 20 minutes), 1 small onion, sliced thin, 1-3 cup flour, ½ teaspoon thyme, ¼ teaspoon leaf sage, 1 inch piece ginger root, shaved.

Mix all the seasonings except the ginger, with the flour. Dredge chicken breasts with these. Saute in skillet 25 minutes. Place chicken breasts in low casserole. Thicken gravy in skillet with rest of seasoned flour and thin with ½ cup of water. Add cut green beans to casserole, sprinkle with shaved ginger, and pour gravy over all. Bake in medium oven for 15 minutes. Serve.

FRENCH FAMILY RICE CAKE

One-half cup rice, 2 cups milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons blanched almonds, finely ground, 4 eggs, separated.

Take ½ cup rice and wash it well through many waters until the water is clear. Heat milk, add rice and salt. Cook gently over low heat until rice is cooked through and milk completely absorbed. Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Set aside to cool slightly while you cream the butter well; add the sugar gradually, next the ground or crushed almonds. Add part of the rice and one egg yolk. Mix well. Continue until all rice and egg yolks have been added. Beat until thoroughly blended. Whip egg whites still, then fold into the rice. Pour into buttered mold. Cover. Steam ½ hour. Turn out on serving platter. Chill; cover with raspberry jam. Serve with a soft custard.

Sunday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Melon, ready-to-eat cereal, parsley omelet, whole wheat toast, butter, grape jelly, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Radishes and olives, Brittany chicken with green beans, baked potatoes, lettuce, tomato and cucumber salad, French dressing, enriched rolls, butter, lemon sherbet, sponge cake, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Cream of fresh tomato soup, melba toast, cottage cheese and fresh vegetable salad, gingerbread, stewed fresh fruit, tea, milk.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Any mother who has been reading the literature on child care for the last 30 years, as I have, cannot avoid being impressed by the marked changes in attitude during the last few years. This has come about, of course, due to the meticulous research in child behavior that has marked this past decade.

The significant change, for the parent who has been sold on "regularity" as an almost sacred principle of child training, is the greater disposition to allow the child to dictate his own feeding hours rather than hold him to any fixed time. There are schedules, don't mistake me, but they are no longer rigid ones. The child can be fed every three hours in the afternoon and every four in the morning, if that seems to please him better than every four or every three throughout the day.

As everything in nature move in regular rhythms it is certain that with any encouragement the schedule will become regulated, though it may be of a slightly different pattern than one the parent might impose on the child.

Again we remember the horror with which a parent admitted that her child sucked its thumb. Now we clearly recognize that children do need some exercise in sucking in order to develop their facial muscles. Bottle feeding deprives them of some of the exercise breast-fed babies used to get, so a little thumb sucking is looked upon with complacency; provided, of course, the baby is well-fed, has plenty of exercise and opportunity for happy activities.

He is expected to outgrow his need and his desire to thumb-suck as he grows into the period when it is more natural to get one's food by spoon or by drinking from cup than it is to imbibe it in drops.

There is a marked change in the present-day attitude toward toilet training. Knowing that children develop at different rates of speed, that some are easily trained and others seem impervious to it, the best advice today is to give the child every opportunity to be clean and dry (this is the mother's responsibility) and be patient about lapses until the child is of an age to be co-operative.

The last noticeable change in baby's behavior is allied to the thumb-sucking. It is the child's privilege to take milk by bottle beyond the first year. The end of the first year used to be the "last mile" as far as this habit was concerned. Now, if the child so desires, he may take a bottle at bedtime up to 13 to 14 months, with every encouragement, of course, to part with it and accept a cup.

Anyone familiar with past ideas knows these are all fairly breathtaking changes in attitude and practice.

Our new leaflet, "Toilet Training," explains the typical behavior of children at different ages. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, in care of this newspaper.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

If you publish any part of this letter (writes a reader, seeking advice) for goodness sake don't use my name.

The reader gives a history of pneumonia at the age of forty, and of two attacks of pneumonia in childhood, complains of a sore spot in chest under one shoulderblade, which is noticeable when she calls the cows. Recent X-ray and medical examinations reveal no lung trouble. Friend husband, as all husbands must or should, tries to get her mind on more cheerful matters by asseverating, the heartless wretch, that no one who has lung trouble could put as much volume in calling the cows as the reader does.

Putting on my high-power specs and peering searchingly through the two thousand miles of atmosphere from behind my lush whiskers I go into a brief trance and come up with this tiny but genius pearl: Soreness or pain felt in the chest is rarely a symptom or sign of lung trouble.

That's as far as we go on that line, folks.

The reader complains further that no one believes she can have much wrong with her, and especially not with her lungs, for she is 5 feet two inches tall and weighs 160 pounds.

In other words, the reader implies, a person who carries thirty-odd pounds of slacker flesh, excess weight, chain and anchor, sack of fuel, every step he or she takes, is that much healthier than a person who has good nutrition.

How this quaint notion became so firmly fixed in popular consciousness is a puzzle. Perhaps old timers observed victims of advanced tuberculosis ("consumption") wasting away and inferred that they developed the disease because they had become thin. From that premise it was easy to conclude that obesity, corpulence, overweight, superfluous adipose, slacker flesh, a reserve fuel tank makes it impossible or unlikely for "lung trouble" to develop.

Offhand I could name a score of fairly common ailments or diseases an overweight person of forty or thereabouts is more likely to have than is a person of that age whose weight is nearer what it should be. Also I have in mind half a dozen fairly common ailments or diseases other than lung trouble that might account for the sore spot under the shoulderblade—but this is a health column and we leave further details about these things to the reader's physician.

Anyway it is high time to scrap the caricature which too many regard as the picture of health. In actuality a corpulent, obese or florid person has a poor chance of enjoying good health after forty and a poorer one of living long enough to draw a retirement pension or social security.

Magic Touches For Fall Wear

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—If big-wig designers can embellish simple suits with tassels, embroider a front with buttons or commandeer rick-rack from the sewing box and give their creations the charm of surprise that helps to put them across, you can do as much with the clothes that you make.

Nor do you have to cudgel your brains to think up magic touches as good as theirs, because Louise Barnes Gallagher, one of these top-ranking designers, gives you three of her proven successes to copy.

TWO-PIECE SHEER

Have you a simple two-piece fall sheer in the making? You can bring it out of the works bristling with style, if you'll tack on a flock of silk tassels of matching color. Armed with about 2½ dozen, divide the number and use to decorate each front side of your jacket from shoulder to waist by lining them up cross-wise in formations of graduating rows. If there are pocket slits near the tail of your jacket, use a row of four tassels on each to make a rear-guard flank.

Next, if you're cooking up a linen or high-style cotton suit, make it something to write home about by "embroidering" the front of your jacket with buttons. Plan to use midget-size buttons to close the front of your jacket. Space them closely together. Then, equip yourself with two dozen more buttons to "embroider" button buds on clusters of chain-stitch stems. You can iron-press stem designs from an embroidery stencil, blocking off any unwanted posies that may come along with the stems. To embroider the stems, use a cotton floss a little darker in color than your dress in a simple chain stitch. Sew a button at the top of each stem.

For a rickrack trick, use three rows of the white saw-tooth edging to fake a bolero. You can combine two colors in a dress. The two colors are joined together at the top with rows of rickrack, and achieve a phony bolero and a high-style dress.

Liquor Coupons Not Considered

The Alberta Liquor Control Board is not considering a coupon plan of rationing for this province, J. A. King, board chairman, stated here Friday morning.

Mr. King, commenting on a dispatch from Saskatchewan, where the CCF government is instituting coupon rationing for alcoholic beverages, said such a plan is not needed here as the permit endorsation system is operating satisfactorily.

In Saskatchewan, no definite system had been in operation to insure equitable distribution of available supplies of beer. The legal allowance was three bottle a day for each person, but there was nothing to prevent a thirsty permittee going to another beer store and picking up three more if he wished.

Mr. King said he planned to attend a two-day conference of provincial liquor board chairmen at Victoria, B.C., on Sept. 8 and 9. An annual affair, the conference is held in a different province each year. In 1943, it was held in the east.

Polio Outbreak Here Unlikely

Edmonton seems likely to escape any serious outbreak of polio this summer, City Medical Health Officer Dr. G. M. Little said Friday.

The period of greatest danger for an outbreak of this dread disease here ends in August, the health officer pointed out.

"It seems unlikely that we will experience any more than an odd case at the worst," said Dr. Little.

With the disease coming close to epidemic proportions in the south of the province, there was considerable anxiety felt here in recent weeks.

Scarlet fever is fading out here and mumps are on the decline.

Superforts Attack Two Enemy Targets

By HUGH A. CRUMPLER

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

NEW SECRET B-29 BASE, NEAR EQUATOR, Aug. 11.—Mighty U.S. B-29 Superfortresses, hammering two far-flung industrial areas of the Japanese empire, set Nagasaki, Japan's 12th largest city, afire and smashed the enemy's major source of aviation fuel supplies in a record 3,600-mile round-trip blow at Sumatra, in the Dutch East Indies, it was disclosed today.

In their fourth assault in two months, the huge bombers struck out from secret bases in China and in the southeast Asia command area yesterday to carry out the war's longest aerial mission and the first fire-bombing of the Japanese mainland.

Hitting at targets approximately 3,000 miles apart, the superforts ignited the big industrial centre of Nagasaki, on Kyushu, the island at the southern tip of the Japanese Archipelago, and the extensive oil refineries and depots at Palembang, in southeastern Sumatra.

Huge fires were started at both targets. Flames spread rapidly through the flimsy wood and paper buildings of congested Nagasaki, one of Japan's important shipbuilding centres and the site of heavy industrial machinery and naval ordnance manufacturing plants.

Palembang, the main town of Sumatra and approximately 300 miles south of Singapore, was estimated to have furnished 78 per cent of the aviation gasoline needed by the Japanese air force and 22 per cent of the fuel oil required by the enemy's dwindling merchant fleet.

Pound Oil Dumps

Seven Task Forces of Allied Heavy Bombers Batter Nazis

By WALTER CRONKITE

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Seven task forces of Fortresses and Liberators with escorting planes—totalling 1,000 Allied aircraft carried the air war against the Nazis today in western Europe, punching crumbling transportation lifelines and oil stocks.

Vitally important oil dumps feeding the tank forces opposing the Americans east of Le Mans were bombed at Et. Florentin and Pacy on the Armancon river, 75 miles southeast of Paris, while the rail centre and fuel dump at Strasbourg and the industrial town of Saabruecken also were strafed.

Mulhouse and Belfort, two other important Alsatian rail centres, were pounded.

Another force attacked enemy airdromes at Villacoublay, Toussus and Le Noblen southwest of Paris, and at Coulommiers, 30 miles east of the French capital.

Escorted by fighters, the bombers reported excellent results, aided by good flying weather.

Taking advantage of a break in the weather, for which they waited 66 days since the French invasion, the Allies sent hundreds of planes in the early operations, indicating the possibility of another day's activity equalling yesterday's 3,400 to 4,000 offensive sorties.

MANY NIGHT BLOWS

The daylight forces went out from Britain at dawn shortly after the return of RAF and RCAF night bombers which battered the Germans from the Bay of Biscay on the western French coast to their home capital of Berlin.

The biggest raid was carried out in clear weather by nearly 750 RAF Lancasters and Halifaxes against the U-boat oil storage depots of Bordeaux and La Rochelle—the two last remaining havens in the Bay of Biscay for the trapped Nazi submarine fleet.

Another force of Lancasters and Halifaxes hammered the rail centre of Dijon, west of the Swiss border, while Mosquito bombers laid two-ton blockbusters on the German capital.

DARING OPERATION

Mosquitos carried out one of the most daring and important mining operations of the war during the night in dropping mines in the vital Dortmund-Ems canal, flying as low as 50 feet to sow the deadly cargoes.

British bombers continued the steady offensive against the flying bomb launching sites in northern France, while the other Allied Aircraft lent close support to the ground forces and hammered at Nazi transport throughout France.

Allied pilots destroyed 15 tanks yesterday, shot down 13 German planes and destroyed or damaged 26 others on the ground, and shot up an estimated 150 locomotives, some 1,000 railway cars and scores of vehicles.

ATTACK NAZI CONVOY

The German DNB Agency reported that 30 Beaufighters attacked a German convoy north of Wangeroff Island in the North Sea last night and torpedoed one vessel. DNB claimed five planes were shot down before launching torpedoes and reported two others were seen burning.

The air ministry announced later that seven of the 15 ships in the convoy were hit either with rockets or torpedoes at a less of four Beaufighters. The convoy consisted of five merchantmen and 10 escorts.

One medium-sized merchant vessel was torpedoed and another probably torpedoed, with both left burning. One escort ship blew up after being hit with rocket fire, while four mine sweepers were set afire and one of them left sinking.

Cancel Meet

Because Mayor Fry was absent on other important business and Ald. Sidney Parsons is on vacation, the meeting of the civic by-laws committee, scheduled for Thursday afternoon, had to be cancelled with not sufficient members to form a quorum.

Before the Magistrate

John J. Telford was found guilty Friday morning by Magistrate A. I. Millar, K.C., of failing to support his wife and four children, and was remanded until Monday to give him a chance to make some arrangements about their welfare.

Telford admitted to the court that he could not look after his own family because he was taking care of another one, and, besides that, he had some debts to clear up. He was told that his first duty was to his own family and not someone else's.

Investigations showed that Telford was making $158 a month. In the last two months he had given only $10 toward the support of his children, saying that the mother could earn enough for their keep.

"Buzz" Welsh and Edward Allan were the greatest of friends. That was what the former said. What a police officer said concerning their charge of creating a disturbance was that a fight started in a cafe. After being put outside, the battle was continued. When told to break it up and go home, the two accused decided they would rather fight, and so were arrested. Each was fined $10 or 14 days and reminded of their record.

Nick Nikolychuk, who was not to be allowed any more "breaks," on two counts of housebreaking and one of breaking and entering was sentenced to one year's imprisonment; one four charges of theft he was sentenced to three each, while a fifth count of theft earned him six months. All terms will run concurrently.

Britton F. Hurl of Toronto and Louis F. Ernest of Harriston, Ont., each charging the other with assault at Viking, wanted to withdraw their respective complaints and were permitted to do so by paying all court costs.

Two "buddies" were present, Robert St. Arnault and Louis Phillips. Bob wished to reserve his plea, in order to get some witnesses. Both cases were remanded for one day.

Jimmy Service of Edmonton was stopped outside the city limits by RCMP traffic officers who thought he should not be operating his truck when only carrying a city license plate. A check of the vehicle was made and eight things "not O.K." with it were found. "If you were fined on each of the eight," observed Magistrate Harold L. Hawe, K.C., "we'd own the truck." He fined the offender $10 and costs.

Two drivers whose vehicles were not equipped with adequate brakes were fined. They were Emil Blackburn of Edmonton, whose brakes registered 21½ per cent efficiency, and who was fined $5 and costs, and Harry Wangler of Spruce Grove, whose brakes showed only two per cent efficiency, and who was fined $10 and costs, nevertheless.

Fines of $10 or 15 days were imposed on Rosario Peltier of Edmonton for operating a public service vehicle over 30 miles an hour; on Charles Hays of Edmonton for driving at more than 30 miles through a restricted area; on Mike Sekora and William P. Hayduk of Calmar, and Cyril Peace of Fort Saskatchewan for driving over 30 miles an hour; on J. A. Watt of Edmonton for operating at more than 40 miles an hour.

Michael Domerischy of Clover Bar pleaded guilty to permitting his daughter, a minor, and not holding a permit, to operate a car. The vehicle was involved in an accident, the court wa stold. The penalty was $5 or seven days. Pete Kotylak of Teeshore, who said he always stopped at railroad crossings but forgot to this time, was fined $5 or five days.

Stony Plain Church Holds Celebration

St. Matthew's Lutheran church at Stony Plain celebrated the 50th anniversary of its founding on Sunday, Aug. 6. The opening service was conducted by Dr. Emil Eberhardt at the cairn erected at the spot of the church's first site and parsonage.

Dr. Eberhardt pointed out in his address the significance of the stones of the cairn. After this the Rev. Mr. Eggers of Watertown, Wis., addressed the gathering pointing out the blessings which the congregation had received in the last 50 years. Mr. Eggers was the first missionary to visit the colony of settlers.

Dinner and supper were served by the Ladies' Aid and other women of the congregation. In charge of arrangements for this were: Mrs. Louis Wudel, Mrs. George Oppertshauser, Mrs. Carl Enders, Mrs. John Metzler, Mrs. Jack Schoepp, Mrs. Ted Wudel, Mrs. John Ducholki, Mrs. Henry Enders.

In the afternoon service Dr. Emil Eberhardt and the Rev. A. H. Schwermann of Concordia College, Edmonton, spoke. Dr. Eberhardt looked back into the past through his address and reminded the congregation to be thankful to God for having received all their blessings. Mr. Schwermann looked into the future and urged the congregation to remain as steadfast in faith in years to come as they have been in the past.

HOLD SERVICE

In the evening a service was held in commemoration of Dr. Eberhardt's 50th anniversary of ministerial work. The Rev. W. C. Eifert, of Leduc, delivered the address. In it he enumerated the services which Dr. Eberhardt had given to St. Matthew's congregation. Afterwards Dr. Eberhardt and Mr. Eggers in an informal manner related incidents of interest which they had experienced.

Dr. Eberhardt recalled that before he came to Canada he told a man that he planned to go to Edmonton. The man replied "Man, you are going out of the world if you go up there". Mr. Eggers also told many interesting stories about his missionary trip.

A gathering of more than 1,500 persons was present from all parts of Alberta, British Columbia, Saskatchewan and the United States.

Druggists Plan Aid Stamp Drive

Participating in a national War Savings Stamp campaign, the druggists of Edmonton and northern Alberta are organizing their program, which is to be conducted through the month of September.

Sixteen drug travellers, under the leadership of Douglas Campbell, committee chairman, and Jim Sinclair, secretary, are formulating plans for the drive and expect to far exceed the results which were obtained in a similar campaign conducted last year.

The druggiss of Alberta are donating prizes to holders of tickets which will be given with each purchase of a War Savings Stamp in any drug store, during the period of the drive.

Window displays will be the feature of the campaign and upon completion of all details publicity will be given to particulars.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

At the Minocqua Lakeland Tournament at Minocqua, Wis., Larry Ball and Carroll Baymiller of Peoria, Ill., won two of the championships, the open pairs and men's pairs. Here is an interesting defensive hand that helped them win the open pair event.

East played the nine on the opening diamond lead and West cotinued with the jack, showing his solid sequence. East completed the echo by playing the deuce; but West knew that South also was void of diamonds now. He laid down the ace of hearts, upon which East played the deuce and figuratively "played the deuce" with South's hopes of making his contract. West now laid dow the diamond ace and East ruffed with his "useless" trump queen. He thus created the setting trick in his partner's hand, as South could not avoid the loss of a trump trick.

EQUALITY AT LAST

McCoy Health Service

Many letters wish information on the minor skin disorders such as dryness, chapping, pimples and cold sores, and this article today will therefore discuss these troubles.

DRY SKIN

Dryness of the skin is usually caused by too little oil being secreted by the glands or by too rapid removal of the natural oil because of using harsh soap, keeping the hands in water, etc. The skin takes on a dry, harsh appearance. The following home measures are generally effective in correcting dryness. Wash the skin in warm water, using a mild, gentle soap. Rinse with great care to make sure all the soap is removed. Dry thoroughly. Dry skin is benefitted by the application of a good cold cream, or by the use of olive oil. Measures which improve the circulation of blood to the face will probably prove helpful, such a slight tapping of the face with the fingers or massage. In many cases the patient is not securing enough fats and oils in the diet and will note an improvement in the skin condition by the addition of such foods. The use of butter is especially advised, partly because of its fat content and partly because butter will provide the vitamin A needed for a young-looking, supple skin.

CHAPPING

Chapping often occurs in those with dry skins with whom there is a lack of the normal lubricating oil. The skin may roughen and form painful cracks. Chapped hands and lips are especially frequent during cold weather. Some of the causes are exposure to cold, exposure to wind, washing too often with harsh soaps, and not drying the skin thoroughly after washing. Use a mild soap with warm water, do not rub the skin too vigorously when drying, and apply a protective cold cream or lotion.

PIMPLES OR ACNE

The adolescent is frequently annoyed by the appearance of pimples. Persistent pimples may produce a feeling of inferiority and the sufferer may avoid social contact on their account. Even when his acquaintances do not criticise his face in any way, he may nevertheless experience shyness and embarrassment simply because he sees his friends looking at the face. Relief usually follows through a change to a better diet, the observance of strict intestinal cleanliness, and the adoption of proper habits of cleansing the face.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Operation at Sea Saves City Sailor

By A. D. MERKEL

HALIFAX, Aug. 11—(CP)—Fresh from a knock down and drag out fight with four armed German trawlers, off the invasion coast of France, a group of officers and men of HMCS Saskatchewan are back in Canada, en route to their homes on leave.

The action, first in the war at sea in which a flotilla made up wholly of Canadian units engaged the enemy, was fought off Brest, within range of the 11-inch guns of the German-manned shore batteries on Cape St. Matthew.

The Germans admitted the loss of three trawlers and there were casualties and slight damage aboard three of the Canadian destroyers. Saskatchewan had one man killed, Leading Seaman Doug Leech, of Calgary, and six wounded; Qu'Appelle had one killed and 16 wounded; Skeena, seven wounded. There were no casualties or damage aboard the Restigouche.

The medical officer is Surgeon Lieut. Doug Keeley, RCNR. He saved the life of Oerlikon Gunner Roman Saretsky of Edmonton by amputating his arm on the mess-deck table during the engagement.

CURIOUS WORLD

Harvest Delayed In Some Areas By Wet Weather

WINNIPEG, Aug. 11.—Hot, dry weather with scattered showers and heavy rains has prevailed this past week over the grain growing regions. Considerable rain in many districts has delayed cutting operations. Considerable barley has been swathed and wheat cutting has commenced in the more southerly districts and will become general when weather improves, according to the weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

Hail damage has been spotty in widely scattered areas and localized damage resulted. Sawfly damage is also reported from widely scattered areas and where this pest is working, farmers are anxious to cut their grain as early as possible. In general, prospects have improved since a week ago but in many districts late crops still have to hurdle the hazard of frost.

HARVESTING DELAYED

In southern Manitoba rain held up harvesting operations. Some land is so wet cutting is impossible but when weather conditions improve, all grains will be cut within a short time. Some farmers report early grain starting to shatter as heads are now over-ripe.

Rain has been general over practically the entire Calgary division and conditions have slightly improved, particularly in the eastern part of the territory, but rains are considered too late to materially increase the yield. Hail is reported from a number of localities but damage is not extensive. Sawfly damage is also showing up. Warm weather is now needed to ripen crops.

The Edmonton district reports warm weather with rainfall varying from light to heavy. Moisture is more than sufficient to mature the crop. The only damage reported is from isolated points west of Edmonton struck by hail. Wheat and barley are beginning to ripen and some barley has been cut. The yield generally will be well above average for all grains in this vast area.

CUTTING VARIES

From the Peace River territory come reports that barley cutting varies from 5 to 20 per cent completed. In the Pouce Coupe-Dawson Creek area many wheat fields will produce from 35 to 50 bushels per acre and cutting has commenced. In other parts of this territory yields will be considerably lighter.

Weather in the Okanagan has been cooler than previously. Apricot movement is practically finished and some peaches, early apples and cantaloupes are now moving. Peaches will reach their peak movement in from two to three weeks time. Crops are turning out better than anticipated and heavy yields are reported with no damage from any cause.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—(CP)—The German radio heard by Reuter News Agency here said last night "British troops yesterday reopened their great offensive in Italy after regrouping their forces."

Export, Domestic Trades Reported

WINNIPEG, Aug. 11—(CP)—Substantial export and domestic trade featured today's session of the Winnipeg grain exchange with sale of 200,000 bushels of top grade wheat to the United Kingdom and 150,000 bushels of oats to United States buyers.

Shippers and exporters also bought 700,000 bushels of low grade wheat for undisclosed buyers, while more than 500,000 bushels of oats were sold fore Lakehead shipment.

Rye futures moved narrowly, following the trend at Chicago. At the close prices were unchanged to ¼ lower with October $1.02½, December $1.02⅛ and May $1.04⅝-½.

Captured Generals Urge Nazis to Quit

MOSCOW, Aug. 11—(AP)—Two captured German generals, in statements appearing above their signatures today in the Soviet press, called upon the German people and the army to end the war.

"Over 30 German divisions are doomed to extermination owing to an irresponsible Hitler's strategy", said the statement, by Lt.-Gen. Von Kurowski of the 110th infantry division and Maj.-Gen. Lindeman of the 361st infantry division.

"There is but one issue—it is to stop the struggle and lay down arms," the statement said. "It is time to finish with Hitler and his clique. He who fights against Hitler fights for Germany."

The declaration, dated Aug. 8, professed complete agreement with a manifesto which 60 of their fellow-generals were reported to have signed July 22 repudiating Hitler.

Early Gains Lost In Chicago Trade

CHICAGO, Aug. 11—(AP)—Grain futures advanced rapidly at the start today but lost about all their gains in late dealings.

Continued drought in the eastern part of the corn belt and the bullish government corn forecast were the main props, but selling developed later, attribted partly to forecasts for rain in the parched corn growing areas. Sellers in the rye pit found demand limited and prices eased, affecting other grains.

Futures closed at or near the low points. Wheat was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher than the previous finish, oats were ¼ off to ⅛ up, rye was ¼ to ⅜ off, and barley was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher.
